GCHS Homecoming might be the last, students worry

By JOE THOMPSON
of the Press-Record

Here's A Song For Dear Old Granite, Lift Up Your Voice and Sing... is the opening refrain from the Granite City High School Fight Song, which will be played Friday night before the start of the Warrior football team's Homecoming game, the way it was played before the beginning of every Granite City Homecoming football contest since the song was written nearly 60 years ago.

On Nov. 6, students, teachers, and administrators of Granite City schools are looking for another kind of support. They are hoping the community will approve a request for a $6.6 million bond issue and a 40-cent increase in the education fund—proposals to raise additional money that will go toward bailing the school district out of a financial jam.

The "Dear Old" school, they say, is in trouble.

Here's A Cheer For Dear Old Granite, Shout It Out, Let Those Echoes Ring.

He calls himself an "old Warrior."

That's because he is, Frank Kraus, superintendent of Granite City Schools, raised his right hand in the air. He then slammed it down hard against his other hand. The sound of palm meeting palm filled his office at 20th and Adams streets. He is in his mid-50s and, as a 1948 graduate of Granite City High School, is an old Warrior.

The sound of his hands colliding created a rather loud noise. His hands are large. Kraus played center and linebacker for the 1946

Warrior football team that won the Southwestern Conference championship—the last Granite City team to achieve that honor. He also was a member of the Warrior baseball team in 1948—the only baseball team ever to win a state title. He played the outfield.

"SO, YOU SEE," he said, "I'm familiar with extracurricular activities. I know how valuable they are."

It is the extracurricular activities—functions such as sports, band, plays, student council, debate, pep club—that will be sliced from the school curriculum if the bond issue and tax hike requests are voted down Nov. 6, school officials warn.

That's the reason for Kraus slapping palm against palm—to em-

County board asks Barton, Finck to resign their posts

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
of the Press-Record

The Madison County Board yesterday rejected a resolution to fire county Supervisor of Assessments James Barton, but accepted resolutions asking that Barton and Board of Review Member Fred Finck take leaves of absence without pay.

County Board Member William Haine of Alton introduced a resolution to dismiss Barton, who has been indicted on nine counts of official misconduct, three counts of bribery and one count of conspiracy to commit official misconduct. The resolution also called for the board to declare the supervisor's post vacant, allowing the county board chairman to appoint an acting supervisor.

"THE STATUTE IS clear," Haine said about the county board's power to ratify an appointment to the supervisor of assessment.

"Within the last year and a half, there has been an almost continuous controversy in the office, complete with investigations resulting in criminal indictments. We have a duty to look at the office in this state of affairs. We have standards of conduct. We can't pass the buck to a judge or jury or somebody else."

Haine charged that Barton is "recklessly negligent" in the fact that he has been indicted twice in a two-year period.

The battleground for the criminal defense will be in the supervisor's office," Haine continued. "I don't know how we can keep the tax cycle going...with this going on. If we decide not to act today, we're saying to the residents of the county that we don't want to be involved with that office. It's for the office itself that we commit this act."

FOLLOWING HAINES' comments, the resolution failed because of the lack of a two-thirds majority.

New YMCA director optimistic

Jerry M. Swatling, a veteran of many years in the YMCA movement, has begun duties as the new executive director of the Tri-City Area YMCA.

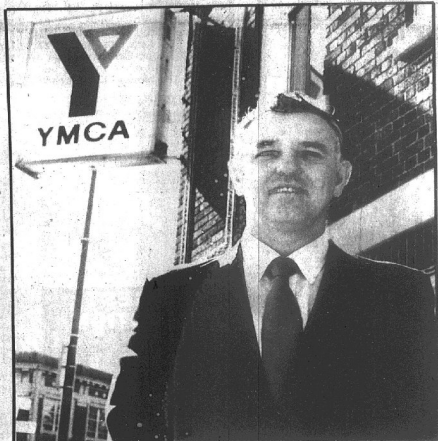

Swatling replaces David L. Femrite, who resigned Aug. 10, to become director of the St. Vrain branch YMCA in Longmont, Colo.

SWATLING returns to YMCA management after nine years as a sales representative for Computer Science Corporation. He served as director of the Peoria Family YMCA from 1966 to 1971 and as executive director of the Northwest County YMCA in St. Louis from 1971 to 1975.

He is a veteran of the U.S. Air Force. He, his wife and four children have just moved to the Granite City area.

In a "pep talk" to the YMCA Board of Directors Monday afternoon, Swatling sized up the YMCA's problems and concluded that the local YMCA is in better shape, both physically and in its opportunities, than most YMCAs. Financially, he believes, the resources exist locally.

HOMECOMING ROYALTY. Miss Jackie Linhart and Jeb Blasingame are the 1984 Homecoming king and queen at Granite City High School. They and the Homecoming Court were presented to the audience in the high school auditorium last night after the performance of the Homecoming play, "You Can't Take it With You." The week will culminate with the traditional Homecoming football game Friday night. This year the Warriors are pitted against the Cokolia Comanches.

Weber promises safer county

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Continued progress in making Madison County safer was pledged here Tuesday by State's Attorney Don W. Weber, who said an exhaustive investigation will be made in 1985-86 of the March 1976 murders of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kube of Granite City.

Addressing Granite City Rotarians, Weber praised his Nov. 6 election opponent, Richard Allen, as an affable lawyer who is entitled to have ultra-liberal opinions. But Allen ought not be state's attorney due to lack of prosecution experience and the Democrat's alleged pro-defense attitude. Republican Weber contended. Allen was unable to attend and debate Weber.

SAYING JUDGES and defense lawyers already show enough sympathy for defendants, Weber said balance requires that prosecutors seek stern sentences, aware that parole is likely after half the term has been served.

A 60-year sentence that was achieved against a man who robbed the Schnucks supermarket in Granite City may deter out-of-town criminals from coming to this community, the speaker commented.

Weber said a hard-working, skilled, active prosecutor is needed—and that he has utilized imaginative and innovative ways to revive dormant

County votes raises

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
of the Press-Record

Madison County Board members Wednesday approved a pay raise for board members to be elected Nov. 6, the board chairman and for four county officials to be elected next month.

The resolutions provide that salaries for new and re-elected county board members be increased from this year's $5,500 annually to $6,500 in the first and second years of a board member's four-year term. A member's pay would increase to $7,000 per year during the third and fourth years of a term.

ALL OF THE approved salary hikes involve only those elected in the Nov. 6 general election. State law says salaries may only be established every four years prior to a general election for those offices subject to the election.

In proposing the pay increase for board members, William Little of Alton said the finance and personnel committees had discussed the

Adams new Nameoki highway commissioner

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
of the Press-Record

"I now pronounce you Mr. Highway Commissioner." With that proclamation, Nameoki Town Clerk Lee Ridgeway swore former Trustee W. Lee Adams into office as the township's interim highway commissioner during a special meeting Wednesday night.

Just minutes before the Nameoki Town Board of Trustees declared a vacancy in the highway commissioner's office and approved Adams for the post, Adams submitted his resignation as a member of the township board of trustees. Adams will serve as highway commissioner until the April 1985 elections.

ADAMS REPLACES Frank Mohr, who was ousted by order of Madison County Chief Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson last week after being convicted of official misconduct.

Upon being accepted for the post, Adams commented, "I would just Methods vary in treating arthritis

By JOYCE MITCHELL
St. Elizabeth Medical Center

During a recent community seminar at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Dr. Stephen J. Lauter, rheumatologist at Washington University School of Medicine, explained to the more than 60 participants that while great strides are being made in research, what can help arthritis victims is understanding the complexity of the disease and seeking early professional help.

Dr. Lauter said that because there are so many different kinds of arthritis (over 100), diagnostic methods and treatments will vary from person to person. Even after the type is identified, he added, there are a variety of medications from which to choose. What works well for one person, he said, may not for another. Dr. Lauter outlined the most common kinds of arthritis symptoms and care, and stressed that physicians look for the best ways to manage individual cases. The goals in arthritis management are to relieve inflammation and pain, and maintain optimal function of the stricken joints.

Dr. Lauter stated that arthritis sufferers are victimized by "quick treatments" to the tune of $1 billion a year. These people are particularly vulnerable for several reasons, he said. Any disease that is chronic, incurable, painful and affects so many people will attract "quick cures," but many times arthritis goes into remission for no apparent reason, making the patient believe the "cure" has worked. Dr. Lauter reminded the participants that the Arthritis Foundation has free literature available and that public education is the only way to stop those who would take advantage of arthritis victims.

Nadine Rains, coordinator of the Central Illinois Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, was also present with a display of the various ways the foundation assists arthritis patients. The Central Illinois Chapter is a Tri-Cities United Way-funded agency. For more information, Mrs. Rains may be contacted at 1-463-7247.

The evening also included exhibits by the medical center's physical therapy director, Jackie Haug, and Stroke Rehab O.T. assistant, Jeanne Cardin. Exhibited were adaptive devices to aid physically handicapped persons maintain their independence.

CROWD, POLICE ATTRACTED
Donna K. Bryant, 17, of 3712 Kirkpatrick Homes, Cindy J. Wise, 19, Fairmont City, and a Granite City girl, 15, were charged with disorderly conduct last week after a disturbance that drew about 50 persons to the 3700 block of Kirkpatrick.

GCHS Homecoming

phasize the gravity of the school's financial plight. Officials are not threatening to eliminate extra-curricular activities — they will, said Kraus.

"IT'S GOING to have to be that way," he said. "No ifs, ands or buts."

Victory's Our Habit, Let's Win This Game...

Job Blasingame is president of the Granite City High School student body. He has a problem this Monday morning — the first official day of "Homecoming Week."

HE NEGLECTED to wear a Hawaiian style shirt to school — the kind of shirts you see Tom Selleck wearing on "Magnum P.I.," the type of shirts students were supposed to wear Monday for "Homecoming Week."

His problem, however, wasn't as grave as one student. She was poring over homework she received in class that morning. Monday was supposed to be "no homework" day.

Oh, well," said Blasingame with a smile. "Some teachers don't always go along with it."

A SENIOR, Blasingame is participating in Homecoming for his final year. As elected leader of all the students in the high school, he has taken action to ensure that funding will be available so Homecoming will continue next year and the years after.

Toward that end, Blasingame has set up a committee that has made buttons, posters and flyers — all asking voters to approve the bond issue and tax increase requests.

Students also plan to take their campaign to the airwaves. They are in the process of contacting WGN radio and hope to appear on Channel 11's "Sonobox."

"I JUST can't picture a high school without a homecoming," said Blasingame. "There would be nothing to look forward to. Sure, you could go to school. But without the play, the band, the other extra-curricular activities, school would be really boring."

"It would be like being in jail, more or less," he said.

But Win Or Lose, Let's Keep Fighting Just The Same...

Sue Hamilton teaches special education at the high school. He is also the faculty adviser to the student council, and a 1983 graduate of Granite City High.

"Homecoming," he says, is the biggest event of the school year. Students just pour their hearts into it. They really care.

"YOU TAKE away Homecoming, you take away a great deal what school life is about," he said.

"It showed me," said Hamilton, "the importance of knowledge. I know that sounds corny, but..."

Homecoming, he says, is not just for the students, but also the graduates — like himself. "It means coming back to school," he says.

For School's What You Make It...

It wasn't so much her heart Jackie Linhart put into her preparation of Homecoming Week, as it was her breath.

Jackie, a senior, is captain of the Warrior pep club. She also is a cheerleader and is on the Homecoming Court.

On Sunday, she and about 50 other girls in the pep club helped decorate the school building. They put streamers and ribbons on just about every door in the school. "It's just fun to see the school decorated, rather than drab halls," she said.

JACKIE AND her mother, Judy, blew up three dozen black balloons, and three dozen red balloons. The balloons also were part of the decorations.

Homecoming, said Jackie, is something the students look forward to. It is a break in the routine of school, which becomes somewhat monotonous this time of year.

"We need something to get back up," said Jackie. "If we didn't have homecoming, it would be the same old thing every day. There would be nothing to look forward to."

ALTHOUGH she is on the Homecoming Court, it is the football game Jackie looks forward to the most.

"I love cheering," she said.

Gracie Can Take It...

Missy Kozyak, a junior, plays a lead part in the school play. "You Can't Take It With You."

The play is another part of the Homecoming Week celebration. It was presented last night and will be staged again tonight at the school auditorium.

MISSY PLAYS the role of Alice Sycamore, the only "normal" member of a family whose grand-father (Bruce Moore), collects snakes, a father (Mike Salem) who builds fireworks, a sister (Beth Bodman) who doesn't dance well, and a mother (Anissa Fields), also zany.

Also cast is Brian Harris.

Missy also has a suitor (Adam Schneider) who, as Tony Kirby, is very much in love with Alice and would like to marry her. The problem is, however, his family is from a different class socially.

Missy says the play is about freedom, which, she says, also is at stake Nov. 6. Should the bond issue and tax increase request be voted down, students won't have the freedom to take part in extra-curricular activities, such as plays or vocal music.

"NOTHING will happen, I guess, because there will be nothing to do," said Missy.

"How can we afford to (approve the proposals)? How can we afford not to?"

"I don't see what this town would be like without it," said Missy. "It won't be school. Students will probably be more involved in drugs and drinking."

"I think the whole spirit of school will be gone. There will be no spirit. What's there to have spirit for? There will just be a building with people in it."

"WE'LL LOSE a lot of teachers," Missy predicted. "Teachers, the good teachers, are also friends."

"A lot of kids say their mothers and fathers don't believe it (the elimination of extra-curricular activities) will happen," said Missy. "Everybody should realize that it's true. It will happen. It will affect the whole city, not just the high school."

"Fight, Fight for Granite High..."

Denise Bard, a junior, and Rob Malench, a senior, also are important to Homecoming Week. The two are drum majors and field conductors for the 95-member Granite City High School Band.

Denise knows what it's like to experience school turmoil. She lived in El Paso, Tex., before she and her family moved to Granite City two years ago. The family settled here believing the school district was in sound financial shape, said Denise.

In El Paso, Denise was busied an effort by school officials there to equalize the Mexican and Caucasian student populations.

SHOULD VOTERS fail to pass the bond issue and tax increase requests, Denise will tell you it wouldn't mark the end of the world.

"You survive," she said, talking from experience.

"Like you survive a nuclear war," said Malench. "I'm convinced people would be leaving."

"IT SEEMS like our town is starting to die, to deteriorate. If the bond issue doesn't pass, I'm convinced that would kill Granite City," he said.

For now, however, the high school and the town are breathing. The two are looking forward to Friday night.

Alice and Tony Kirby, the two band will look nice in the red and white uniforms. The moment will arrive when they will form "victory lanes," through which the football players will run as they enter the field. The band leaders will wave their batons and the band will break into the school's Fight Song.

The thought that this moment may not be repeated is with Denise.

SHE WONDERs, "If there's no band, who will play the school song?"

Gilbert Wamsley, the principal of Granite City High School, swivels in his chair. He graduated from Wood River High School, but has been an administrator in this school district for 18 years.

He urges voters to approve the bond issue and tax increase requests.

"THE FUTURE of the community is what we're voting for," he said. "It will be either what it's always been or something less." A lot less.

There is time for Kraus to discuss the school's financial woes this day. He said the school board has made cuts wherever possible. He pointed out they have closed buildings to reduce costs. They are at a point, however, where the only place they can reduce is the curriculum, he said.

"Now, the kids might be getting hurt," he said.

He, too, wonders if this might be Granite City High School's final Homecoming.

"G-He, G-Hi, G-He-He-Ho-Ho-Ho. Granite Warriors, Go, Go, Go."

AS ONE of his first actions, Swatling has arranged a "YMCA Town Meeting" for Tuesday, Oct. 30, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. He is inviting the public to attend, see the facilities, meet him, the staff and several YMCA directors and tell them what is right and what is wrong with the YMCA. "They may say some things we don't want to hear, but that is good. It will let us know where we need to go," he told the board of directors.

During the town meeting, demonstrations and workshops will be available in aquatics, volleyball, basketball, Fitness Fantasia (aerobic dance), the "Y's Way to a Healthy Back, racquetball and other areas. Swatling hopes to organize committees to improve these areas and to form leagues.

A lack of leagues to challenge more advanced players is one of the failings of the current program, he says. "When players become the top at something, they want to play the top players from other YMCAs, then

Final homecoming for GCHS?

This is Homecoming Week at Granite City High School. A story in today's newspaper quotes various school administrators and students as wondering whether this will be the last Homecoming Week for many years.

While many Quad-Cityans have talked to be skeptical about how serious the financial crisis is in the Granite City public schools, we are convinced the problem is real and can only be solved by more money. Borrowed money only compounds the problem. We, the taxpayers, are paying $800,000 in interest each year on a $7.6 million debt. That is $800,000 a year that could be used for books, computers or other educational uses if the debt were eliminated.

Voters should realize that failure to pass the two school referendums on Nov. 6 will drastically alter the schools, and not for the better. Superintendent of Schools Frank Kraus says, "If it is the two ballot issues are shot down in November, we'll be back at you in April. If it fails then, we'll be back at you as soon as possible. It is essential these issues be passed. We don't have any money," Kraus stresses.

April 1985 will be too late. It is estimated that even with elimination of all extracurricular activities, much additional money would have to be borrowed to finish this school year if the referendums do not pass.

The two 40-cent rate hikes requested would increase the average homeowner's taxes by about $100. One proposal would issue bonds for a working cash fund to the school district in some instances can borrow from itself instead of others, and save interest. Temporarily idle money can be invested and the interest used to benefit the schools. The taxes on this fund would continue for ten years or less.

The second 40-cent per $100 assessed valuation hike would supplement the education fund, where the lack of funds is the most critical. That tax hike is likely to continue indefinitely unless new methods for funding education are found.

We believe the $100 a year is money well spent. It will help keep property values stable and will balance the schools' budget so our tax dollars are used to educate our children, not to pay interest.

An average of $2,700 a year is spent to educate each and every student, which is below the state average of $2,900 per student. Residents of many other districts in the state are paying higher school taxes than Granite City to assure quality schools.

For a parent who has a student in the schools, they are a bargain. The district will pay approximately $34,000 to educate that student from kindergarten through high school graduation. For the average homeowner paying $37 a year in school taxes, 63 years would pass before the value of his or her education had been paid back. Those with two or three children in school will never be able to repay it, but they and the community and nation will benefit.

For those without children in the schools, the money is an investment in the future. The students today will be our leaders tomorrow. Good schools also help attract industry and new business and reinforce home property values.

We urge everyone to attend the public meetings being conducted throughout the community on the school proposals, get the facts and then decide to vote yes Nov. 6 on both school issues.

Cut the military to help those in need

To the Editor:

One test of the moral fiber of a society is its treatment of people who are less fortunate. The Census Bureau announced in August 1984 that the number of Americans living below the poverty line had increased by over nine million, from 35 percent in 1979 and 1983.

The numbers of homeless and hungry people in cities of America have increased 70 percent in the past year. Included in these numbers are those who are no longer listed as unemployed because they have exhausted all hope of finding work and those who cannot get food stamps because they have no home address. These are not signs of a successful society. Dottie Lamm, wife of Colorado's governor, writes of the social costs of excessive military spending in her "Denver Post" column:

"If we cancelled just one of the $250 million B-1 Bombers, we could double the federal education aid for handicapped children."

"If we cancelled just one of the MX missiles, we could eliminate poverty in 100,000 female-headed families for a year."

"If we build three less of the 35 TR-1 Spy Planes ($40 million each), we could actually help the Maternal and Child Health Program."

—The Pentagon wants 7,984 M-1

Abrams Tanks at $2½ million each. For each one cancelled, 5,311 children could receive remedial reading classes for one year.

President Eisenhower said, "If we put one dollar more in a weapons system than we should, we are weakening our defense." Those who are hungry and are not fed, those who are cold and are not housed are a serious weak link in our national defense. During this election season, the contented portion of our population cannot afford to close its eyes to rampant hunger and economic depression of millions of Americans.

Alderman Perjak responds to GC employees

To the Editor:

In response to two letters that recently appeared in the newspaper, I feel the following facts need to be defined, because obviously the rank and file of the fire and police were not priviledged to the facts that led to the sequence of event in the city administration.

At the time of my election it was reported that the city was in "great shape," however, approximately four months after I took office we had to borrow $1.8 million due to the fact the city was suddenly faced with many "accumulated" unpaid bills. At or about the same time, we mandated by the Mayor & Council to negotiate a "no cost" contract, which we did. We asked for no concessions such as those many local workers have been forced to experience.

I might add that during that same time great pressure was put on the council by these two departments and the mayor to impose a utility tax and increase property taxes in order to give employees a raise. At that time, myself and four other aldermen met with all of the large industries in the city to see what effect this would have on them; the results were devastating. Therefore, I refused to vote for more taxes and, in fact, lobbied to help defeat such a proposal.

Again, the following year, the negotiation committee was mandated by the mayor and the council that still there would be no raises. (Also, for information, our negotiation committee went back to the council for a 5 percent increase for 1985 and was voted down.)

In January of this year the council met with the mayor regarding increases, and, again, said there would be no raises. The fire and police departments felt this was unfair and asked for arbitration. The negotiation committee felt their hands were tied and the council voted to go to arbitration. Approximately three weeks (quickened negotiations on record) before the city was set for arbitration, the new committee asked the employees to take a $350 "bonus," which they rejected. The mayor then offered them a $150 bonus for 1984-85 and a 6 to 12 percent raise for 1985, and to open again in January of 1985.

In regards to the last raise being 1 percent, let's not mislead the public. This was actually the tail end of a 21 percent increase of a three-year contract. History shows that since 1975 the average yearly increase has been 8 percent.

What is different this year from those prior years is that it appears the mayor "found" some money, approximately $900,000 that, in part, was to be used for sewer repairs. The budget was approved with $350,000 appropriated for raises. Actually $615,000 was given for raises and bonuses.

Let me add that during my time on the negotiating committee, the mayor never so much as sat in on a meeting and certainly never took charge of the negotiations. Why this year?

I was not against the employees receiving a raise this year. However, I was against employees no longer working for the city receiving that "bonus." Why should an employer grant a bonus to someone who resigned their position, didn't live the city when they were employed, or when two employees had received raises, when the rest of the city employees did not, received an additional raise.

With regards to the claims I am against labor, that's fabulous! How then could I have been endorsed by two of the biggest unions to be a delegate to the Democratic National Convention? I do expect, as any good union should, eight hours work for eight hours pay, especially when I, as a taxpayer, am picking up the tab.

I feel these two departments have been "at odds" with me since I took office. I have been having trouble with one job and since I felt they should be on a rigid physical fitness program.

I have always believed and still feel that I was elected to best represent all of my constituents and to endeavor to do what is best for the city. If my constituents have followed my career as their alderman, then they know I most definitely am not a "yes" person. I feel that I have always weighed both sides of an issue and have voted my conscience to do what is best for my ward and the city as a whole. Certainly I would like to have the support of these two departments, but if I have to be a "yes" person and sell the rest of the city and my constituents short to get it, then again I'll have to do without it.

Perhaps I should feel flattered that some employees of the fire and police departments apparently think I'm more powerful than, in reality, I am. However, deflating the facts remain, as an Alderman or Committee member, I, like everyone else on the council, am just one person with one vote!

School district must eliminate some costs

To the Editor:

The school bond issue and its affiliated issues require of its taxpayers residences too much.

This figure that is before us — let's say millions of dollars, since millions are spent with the ease of putting a pen to paper — it's like a real good shirt, not light, not heavy, and it has a nice big pocket.

Our good schools, like the shirt, bring a good school system. We don't have too light, curriculum or too heavy, a curriculum. And it has the taxpayer as the pocket.

Time goes by and the pocket becomes an open convenience. You begin by putting your glasses, cigarettes, a lighter, the tax increases we all receive each year.

Add a couple of receipts, a pen, gum, until the pocket has become a bulging shirt on the chest, pulling at the buttons, until finally the pocket can't hold anymore and one is forced to remove or add less burdensome or bulging items were removed.

The school system can cut more. We know it and it's a sure thing they do.

They don't want to cut, but they must realize that, this pocket — the taxpayers — can't hold anymore.

It's time to remove the excess — all excess, if necessary. Let's get back to basics and have nice shirts, looking nice, feeling nice, and neat, simple and basic, as it was meant to be in the beginning.

Let's not lose our shirt over a stuff-of-pocket.

Debating the question

HARRY ELLIS ELVIRA THURBER DONALD PARTNEY

Visitors to the Granite City Post Office Wednesday were asked if they think the presidential and vice presidential debates will have any effect on the outcome of the November election. Their comments follow.

Harry Ellis, Granite City
"I think it reinforces the way people are going to vote. The media is making a big deal about Mondale 'winning' the last debate, but I don't think he did."

Mrs. Elvira Thurber, Granite City
"I think they will. I think it will tell the people if they (the candidates) are well-informed about the subjects they are questioned about. I've been watching and I think it is interesting. More people should watch."

Donald Partney, Granite City
"No, I think so many people already have their minds made up. Although, the debates might influence a few voters."

Melinda Nix, Granite City
"Yes. When someone can see a person in action and hear what they say, I believe it does have an impact on the voters. I believe the debates will make the difference in gaining Mondale enough support to win the election."

Vote 'Yes' in the school election Nov. 6

To the Editor:

Before the present school system was formed, many, including myself, attended a one-room school. The one-room school that I attended did not have a school nurse, school lunches, supervised recess, a school band or inside plumbing. Because there was no bus to ride I had to walk two miles to get to school in all kinds of weather.

As a result, I was frostbitten on winter days and often did not attend school because of having to walk through snow and ice.

At best the one-room school atmosphere could only offer a sub-standard education because the teacher had to teach several grade levels at once and spend part of her day firing the pot-belly stove.

When the unit district was formed, I rode a bus to school, ate a hot lunch, more toxic and joined the school band. But, more important than that, I was given the opportunity to get a good education.

One present school system has given this community many scholars, athletes, musicians, good citizens and has helped mold this area into one of the best areas of our country to live and to raise a family.

We cannot let our children, or ourselves, suffer from the consequences of a lesser education, or burden the business community to help pay the cost of extracurricular activities such as sports, band or driver training.

I urge everyone to vote "Yes" for the Granite City School District bond proposition on Nov. 6.

Simon career good base for Senate race

To the Editor:

I'm writing in favor of Paul Simon and his race for United States Senator.

First, as far as I can ascertain, he was the first, ever, politician to publish on a regular basis his annual income figures and the yearly tax he paid, starting around 1954 or thereabouts.

I first knew him as a young, crusading crime fighter, when he was editor and publisher of the weekly Troy, Ill., Tribune.

Before he was 21, he led a campaign to "clean up" Madison County and he was featured on TV as Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee brought his fight against organized crime to St. Louis.

Then, after serving in the United States Army Counter Intelligence Corps, he returned to Troy and ran, against the well-entrenched Democratic machine, for a seat in the Illinois State Assembly.

In that first campaign, it is reported that he shook hands with every voter in Madison County. Eight years later, Simon ran for and was elected an Illinois state senator.

In 1972, following a term as governor of the state of Illinois, he ran for but was defeated for the nomination for governor. It is almost a cinch that he was a victim of Nixon's "dirty tricks" campaign in that race, as just enough Republicans "crossed over" to defeat Simon in that primary.

After a short time as a college professor in Springfield, Illinois, and at the retirement of Congressman Gray in Southern Illinois, Simon decided to make a run for that office and was elected.

A near fiscal conservative when it comes to the public's taxes, Simon has regularly voted to improve the public's condition.

His most outstanding contribution has been his fight to roll back the prices of natural gas and to stop that group's greedy ripoff of everyone's pocketbook.

Finally, he firmly supports the Mullins-Ferraro ticket for president, etc.

Dixon alleges mismanagement of Superfund

To the Editor:

Strange things sometimes happen in our nation's capital. One such instance occurred during the closing days of the Congressional session.

On the very same day the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency announced that it had added 11 sites to its list of dangerous toxic waste dumps, the Senate, by a vote of 59 to 38, refused to go along with a proposal to provide funds for a clean-up of these toxic waste dumps.

I find this situation ironic. Here we are with hundreds of toxic waste sites — including 22 in Illinois — threatening the health of our citizens, and the Senate refuses to act — on the very day the EPA is telling us the problem is even worse than we thought.

Clearly, additional Congressional action is needed. Toxic waste dumps are causing an environmental crisis in this country. Four years ago, Congress passed a sweeping measure to cope with this problem, "Superfund," as it is known, was designed as a five-year program to clean up at least 414 of the most toxic and dangerous waste dumps. Superfund has a budget of $1.6 billion, raised primarily from a tax on 44 petrochemicals produced by companies dealing in toxic substances. The federal EPA administers the Superfund.

At least, only six sites have been completely cleaned up. Why so few? There are several reasons: Mismanagement of the program, money not being spent on originally known about, and higher actual clean-up costs than originally estimated. What is most disturbing is that even at EPA's snail's pace of activity, the trust fund will be exhausted by next May.

That is why the Senate's refusal to take any action is so regrettable. While the Superfund clean-up program is inching along, the National Priority List, which ranks the most toxic waste dumps, is expanding at an alarming rate. Merely being named on the National Priority List should be sufficient reason for a timely clean-up of a toxic waste dump.

Since the original 414 sites were announced three years ago, the EPA has made two modifications to its list. In September, the EPA added 128 sites. Then, most recently on Oct. 2, the EPA added the latest group of 244, which is a 45 percent increase in the total number of toxic waste dumps requiring clean-up. This latest list is bad news for illinois, because it doubles the number of toxic waste dumps in our state from 11 to 22. Here are the new sites described by the EPA: four separate sites at the old Kerr-McGee facility in West Chicago in DuPage county (Kress Creek, Reed-Keeper Park, the sewage treatment plant, and certain residential areas surrounding Kerr-McGee); NL Industries at Granite City; Pacer's Pit at Rockford; Peterson Sand & Gravel at Libertyville; the U.S. Ecology site at Sheffield; the Joliet Army Ammunition Plant; Sangamo Electric at Carverville and the Savannah Army Depot.

It is extremely disappointing to find government agencies on this list. Of all entities, our own government should be setting an example for handling toxic waste dumps, rather than creating problems that require emergency and expensive clean-ups.

When it reconvenes next January, Congress must undertake as one of its priorities, the solving of the Superfund crisis. Coupled with a stronger enforcement of the laws on polluters, the clean-up of toxic waste dumps must proceed as rapidly and as efficiently as possible.

WILLARD PORTELL

Clerk Portell unopposed for seventh term

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record
A seventh consecutive four-year elective term as circuit court clerk of Madison County is being sought Nov. 6 by Willard V. "Butch" Portell, 66, a former Granite City man who resides in Collinsville.

With a total of 32 years of county governmental experience, Portell is the dean of Madison County officials. Past court reorganizations have greatly increased the responsibilities of his busy office.

"I AM PROUD of my staff, which is experienced, energetic, courteous and hard-working," Portell comments.

He is on the job every day and visits each of the many circuit clerk divisions in the County Courthouse at Edwardsville. Included are traffic, bonding, central records, child support, family, divorce, mental health, felony, juvenile and probate records.

Rated by authorities as one of the most outstanding circuit clerks in Illinois, Portell has been active on the Supreme Court Committee for Criminal Justice.

PAST PRESIDENT of the Illinois Court Clerks Association, he served as chairman of that group's Legislative Committee for six years.

His memberships include the National Association of Court Administrators and the International Association of County Officials.

He also is a member of the American Judiciary Society and the Lewis and Clark College Advisory Committee.

A FORMER ATHLETE who values the friendship of such national sports figures as Baseball Cardinals Manager Whitey Herzog, Portell is affiliated with a variety of fraternal, civic, religious, charitable and veterans' organizations.

The longtime Democrat has been endorsed by labor unions, attorneys, business groups, professionals and the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education.

He ran unsuccessfully in 1982 for state senator in the district east of the local district, but has proven to be one of the most consistent and effective vote-getters in Madison County.

Wright speaks at Kennedy dinner dance this Saturday

James C. Wright Jr., majority leader of the Democrats in the House of Representatives and assistant speaker to Thomas "Tip" O'Neill, will be the principal speaker at the annual John F. Kennedy Memorial Champagne Dinner Dance. The event will be conducted on Sunday, Oct. 21, at Augustine's Restaurant, Highways 15 and 158, Belleville, with cocktails at 4:30 p.m. and dinner at 5 p.m.

Tickets are $35 per person. Reservations may be made by calling Robert Stille at 1-656-7289 or Sam Wolf at 877-2345.

Now in his fourth term as majority leader of the House, Wright has won numerous honors and titles. But none does he value as highly as one bestowed by his fellow members of Congress. In a survey in 1980, the rank-and-file membership acclaimed Wright as "the most respected member of the House of Representatives."

In the confidential survey conducted by U.S. News and World Report, "each member of the House was asked to choose the most respected member of the body, and the most persuasive debater. Wright won in both categories."

Elected majority leader in a close contest with three others in 1976, Wright since then has been unanimously re-elected three times.

Wright was born in Fort Worth, Texas, the city he represents in Congress today. He finished public school in 10 years and was on his way toward wrapping up college in three years when Pearl Harbor was attacked.

Enlisting in the Army Air Corps, Wright received his flyer's wings and a commission at age 19. He flew combat missions in the South Pacific and holds the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Legion of Merit.

After the war, Wright was elected to the Texas Legislature at age 23. At 26, he became the youngest mayor in Texas when voters chose him to head the city government in Weatherford, his boyhood home.

Elected to Congress at 31, he presently is serving his 15th consecutive term and is the author of major legislation in the fields of foreign affairs, economic development, water conservation, and energy. He has been a leading force in Congress for the creation of a major synthetic fuels capability and the re-establishment of American energy independence.

A prolific writer, Wright has authored three widely acclaimed books, "You and Your Congressman," "The Coming Water Famine," and "Of Swords and Plowshares," and collaborated with several colleagues on a fourth, "Congress and Conscience." He has also written articles for "Harpers," "Saturday Evening Post," "This Week," "Coronet," and major newspapers.

GC approves refunds for ambulance retainer fees

Granite City Council members approved a motion Tuesday night to refund retainer fees paid by three municipalities to the city for ambulance service.

Those receiving refunds are: Venice—$1,755; Venice Township—$398, and Nameoki Township—$230. The refunds are to be included in the next city bill list.

The city had been involved in an ambulance contract with Venice, Madison, Pontoon Beach, Venice Township, Chouteau Township and Nameoki Township from 1978 to August 1983.

In 1982, Granite City established a yearly retainer fee system, whereby the municipalities were responsible for paying an amount up front, to "make up" for customers who are on Public Aid. These customers were considered a liability because Public Aid only pays a percentage of the ambulance expense and Granite City had to pick up the remainder of the costs.

The retainer fee did not free the municipalities from their obligation to pay for bills that their residents would not pay.

When three of the municipalities refused to pay the retainer fee, the charge was taken to court. Subsequently, the court ruled in favor of the municipalities, saying the city did not have the right to change their contract with the municipalities by charging the retainer fee.

Although the court's action did not direct Granite City to return the money that had been paid by other towns, Alderman Sam Whitmer, chairman of the ambulance committee, said he feels this would be the only fair thing to do.

Whitmer also hopes to gain payment of outstanding ambulance bills from the municipalities.

Gift prompts GC parks to start memorials

The Granite City Park District has received a $1,000 donation from Anthony C. Kohanski, in memory of his wife, Rose (Mamogonian) Kohanski (1908-1984). Mrs. Kohanski died on July 20 and was buried in Arlington Cemetery, Arlington, Va.

Mrs. Kohanski lived across the street from Wilson Park and could be found walking through the park every day, admiring its beauty and making friends with local children and park district employees. Kohanski knew of his wife's love for the park and said he wanted part of the donation to be used to place a memorial in Wilson Park in her name. He would like the rest of the gift to be used to improve the pre-project garden or for the proposed project that will be undertaken at the present swimming pool site, if the bond issue passes.

The park district has decided to build on Kohanski's donation by setting up a Memorial Fund Account. Any family can contribute to this fund as a memorial to one of their family loved ones or any group or organization can make a donation for an individual or for community recognition. Suitable plaques will then be provided in the name of the deceased.

Information regarding memorials can be obtained by calling the Wilson Park Office at 877-3059.

Filing of motion sets aside default

Madison City Attorney Casper Nighobossian has filed a motion for an extension, thus avoiding a default judgment by the Third Judicial Circuit Court in a small claims complaint against the city.

The complaint, filed by three Madison police officers over sick pay, was to be heard by the court Oct. 9, but no representatives from the city appeared before the court. A default judgment (which means that the failure of the city to defend itself results in a ruling for the officers) would have been issued had the Nighobossian not filed the motion for the extension.

The suit was filed on behalf of Madison Police Officer Thomas Voloski and former officers William Weidner and Richard Asperger, who say that they were denied sick pay when five police officers called in sick on July 26, 1983. They claim that they followed departmental policy by submitting doctors' reports and should be paid $2,000 for wages and attorneys fees.

City officials contend that the officers had the "blue flu" because an informational picket by officers coincided with the sick days. No new court date for the officers' complaint has been set.

$300 FIRE AT APARTMENT

Fire of unknown origin caused $300 loss last week at the apartment of Debbie Barr, 3702 Kirkpatrick Homes. There was damage to a mattress, headboard, bedding, wall and clothes.

FOUR TIRES SLASHED

A vandal slashed all four tires on a 1974 Mercury owned by Arnold Schuere while the vehicle was parked at Washington Avenue and Nameoki Road, he reported Monday. His auto's tires were cut twice before in the past three months, he said.

MEMORIAL DONATION. Anthony Kohanski, (far right) presents a $1,000 donation to Nancy Sanders, Granite City Park Board commissioner, while Dave Nolan, director of Granite City parks and recreation, watches. Kohanski made the donation in memory of his late wife, Rose Kohanski. The park district hopes to build on the Kohanski gift, by the establishment of a Memorial Fund Account. (Press-Record Photo)

Lotto increases to $14 million

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

With the state lotto grand prize boosted Wednesday afternoon to $14 million, interest and sales are building rapidly for this Saturday's selection.

The prize had been announced as at least $12 million after it was learned nobody matched all six numbers last weekend.

A total of $2.8 million in the grand prize pool was rolled over to this week, and by Oct. 20 the cash is projected to be $5.6 million, enough for a 20-year annuity paying $700,000 annually.

The 378 persons matching five numbers earned $3,044 apiece and the 22,014 players matching four of six netted $76 each.

In another phase of the Illinois State Lottery, the daily game, 3-4-9—one of the most frequently played series—was drawn Monday. This resulted in a payout of $1,830,110, one of the biggest totals ever and about double that day's ticket sale of $987,265.

The last time the same combination came up was four years ago—Oct. 18, 1980. The payout then of $1,360,280 was three times that day's daily game sale.

The record of $2,126,485 was paid to winners on March 11, 1982.

Births recorded at St. Elizabeth Medical Center include:

GIRLS

Mr. and Mrs. David Williams, 2041 Paul Ave., Oct. 16, Katie Lynn, 6 pounds, 8 ounces.

BOYS

8-year term for robbery with knife

James Parrott, 21, of 2161 Benton St. is to serve eight years in a state prison and also pay $90 in court costs, Circuit Judge Paul J. O'Neill has ruled.

An armed robbery charge was filed July 16. Parrott was arrested at 10:45 p.m. at Kate Street and Jerden Avenue, 80 minutes after John M. Overturf of the 4900 block of Kirkpatrick Homes was robbed of his wallet by a knife-wielding man.

Overturf was walking north on Ridgeway Avenue next to the 3600 block of Kirkpatrick when the robber, walking in the opposite direction, asked where he lived and then pointed a folding knife at him. The victim tried to grab the knife and a struggle followed. Overturf receiving a cut to the right thumb.

He fell backward beneath the assailant, who held the knife to the victim's throat, threatened him and took his wallet. The robber also made him empty his trousers pockets of coins.

The assailant fled into the housing project and across old cemetery grounds, temporarily avoiding custody.

In an unrelated case, Parrott received a three-year prison term in early 1981 for a Dec. 1, 1980, burglary in Granite City. He had been apprehended by police at Missouri Avenue and West 20th Street.

Parrott was sentenced to four years in prison in August 1982 for a felony theft of property occurring Dec. 31, 1981.

Venice retains Campbell Ambulance

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

The City of Venice has renewed its contract with Campbell Ambulance Service, Inc., Centerville, to provide service to community residents for the next 12 months. The action was taken by the Venice City Council at its meeting Tuesday night.

Although a specific rate schedule from the previous contract was not available Tuesday in order to compare figures, Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols estimated that fees under the new contract may differ somewhat from last year.

It was noted, however, that Campbell's service has proved reasonable for the community, cost wise, and unanimous approval was given the new 12-month agreement by the aldermen.

Roseann Koelker, Venice controller, said only two uncollectible bills were presented by Campbell to the city for payment this year—one for $83 and the other for about $90. Basic cost varies depending on the services provided by the ambulance crew.

Last year, only two bills ($63 and $70) were paid by the city to the ambulance service on behalf of persons whose bills were ineligible for Public Aid reimbursement and the expenses involved were unable to be collected by the Campbell firm.

The previous contract stated that Campbell would be reimbursed for unpaid bills by the city of Venice at the prevailing Public Aid rate of $50 per call, plus $1 per mile after the initial 10 miles, plus $6 if oxygen is used.

The new contract does not contain this clause, but states, "(Campbell) shall be entitled to reimbursement from unit (Venice) at Campbell's then prevailing rate."

The rates listed in the new contract show a basic one-way trip with oxygen is $95 and basic round trip ambulance service is $135. Not listed is a one-way trip to a hospital without oxygen use.

An emergency trip fee is $80, or $100 with use of life support equipment. Both a patient transfer fee and a return trip from a hospital are listed at $67.

A check Wednesday with Illinois Public Aid officials in Springfield disclosed the maximum reimbursement rate for Public Aid clients remains the same, at $50 plus the mileage and oxygen fees.

According to the new contract, Campbell may decrease the stated charges at any time and from time to time without limitation, but may increase the rates listed in the contract only after written notification to the city at least 30 days prior to the effective date of any increase in charges.

Relating to the ambulance fees, Third Ward Alderman John Ervin suggested that unpaid bills for residents of Venice Township for ambulance services should be sent to the Venice Township supervisor. He noted specific funds are allocated in the township budget for this purpose.

Mrs. Koelker said a letter concerning this point already was sent to Venice Township, but the request for payment was rejected.

"There is no sense in sending a letter again if they rejected the last one," Mayor Echols commented. An invitation was issued the council from Venice Park Board President Arnold Johnson who said a groundbreaking ceremony for the Venice Park District new water slide project will take place at 11 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 27, at Diamond No. 1 on the Klein Street side of the Leo Park. Refreshments will be served.

Illinois Lt. Governor George Ryan will address the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors at its meeting Wednesday, Oct. 24, at the Specialized Living Center in Swansea. Mayor Echols advised the aldermen.

Mayor Don Melhorn of Swansea will host the event, which starts with a cocktail hour at 6 p.m., followed with dinner at 7 p.m. and business meeting at 8 p.m. Reservations are due by Friday, Mayor Echols said.

Venice 'Crime Blockers' to meet again Saturday

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

The Venice Police Department is asking all residents to attend a meeting of the new "Crime Blockers" citizens' involvement program at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 20.

The event will take place in the new Venice Senior Citizens' Community Center, Brown and Klein streets.

At Tuesday night's meeting of the Venice City Council, Mayor Tyrone Echols said the program "is generating some pretty good interest" and he urged all local residents to attend this week's session.

Venice Police Sergeant Biri Reed has been appointed to work with local residents wishing to become involved in such a program. He will provide professional instruction to enable each "Crime Blocker" to know what to look for, how to identify someone and to properly report incidents to the police department.

The "Crime Blocker" program is recognized as a deterrent to crime by establishing a formal network of citizens to report suspicious or emergency situations to the police.

The thrust of this program is to have total community involvement in stopping the recent rash of burglaries in the area, Mayor Echols said.

"It is up to each of us to get this problem corrected and we want your participation," the mayor said.

"Our police need your help—your eyes and your ears—to effectively stop crime," he added.

Sgt. Reed noted that a criminal did not want to operate in areas where citizens are alert. He said that meetings will be scheduled twice monthly at the onset of the program and about once each month thereafter.

In other business, Fourth Ward Alderman Victor Valentine Sr. asked for additional police patrols, especially on weekends and from midnight until 8 a.m., in the alleys near the Consolidated Aluminum plant, where some recent acts of vandalism have been taking place.

He also suggested that tickets be issued to those persons violating the ordinance against parking alongside fire hydrants. "It is against the law and they should be given tickets," he said.

Valentine said drainage problems in his ward are being caused by persons throwing bottles in the catch basins, adding that he, personally, retrieved about 10 bottles which were stopping up storm sewers in the area.

Approval was granted for the Silver Bells Senior Club to begin a decorating project at the new Venice Senior Citizens' Community Center, where the council met Tuesday night.

Mrs. Bessie Alexander, decorating committee chairman, said the senior club plans to provide inflatable draperies, plants, a bulletin board, two flag poles, a clock and standing ashtrays.

A memorial wall plaque listing the names of deceased club members and photographs of the mayor, aldermen and past club presidents also will be used, Mrs. Alexander said.

Other committee members present at the council session were Mrs. Gertrude Young, Mrs. Helen R. King and Mrs. Frankie M. Griggs.

A complaint was heard from a resident about a dwelling in the 600 block of Fillmore Street, where the presence of numerous rats and termites had been reported at a previous meeting. The city health inspector will be notified to again check the address, Mayor Echols said.

GREETING CANDIDATES. Gateway 'Legislative Night'

School and park propositions of specific interest to Granite City, to be voted in the Nov. 6 general election, and a representative group of candidates for Madison County offices were important aspects of the first annual "Legislative Night" dinner meeting of the Gateway Business and Professional Women's Club of Granite City.

Held Monday night at Charlie's Restaurant, the event attracted about 60 members and guests.

A special guest was State Senator Sam Vadala, (D-Edwardsville), who is not a candidate in the upcoming election, but spoke early on the balanced condition of the state budget.

With the considerable attention being focused on the federal government's budget deficit, "Senator Sam" cited the 1984-85 Illinois state budget, "which is balanced."

The Illinois budget of $15.3 billion, breaks down to expenditures of $41,917,888 per day, $1,746,375 per hour, $29,109 per minute and $485 a second, the state senator said.

"But, Illinois does have a balanced budget," he stressed.

The senator complimented the women's organization for their political awareness in sponsoring such meetings. He was introduced by Fred W. Painter, regional director for the Illinois Secretary of State's Office, presiding as master of ceremonies.

Painter announced to the gathering that Vadala received "Man of the Year" honors from the Horsemans' Benevolent and Protective Association at its meeting the previous night in Belleville.

Attorney Brian Konzen addressed the Granite City District's bond issue, noting that state revenues are down and the corporate replacement tax is not collecting sufficient money for educational purposes.

"The state lottery doesn't put a dime directly into the Education Fund," he said. Lower property assessments, together with declining valuations this year, inflation and expenses for textbooks and salaries have added to school costs.

"Should the bond issues fail, certain programs would have to be curtailed, or we could declare bankruptcy."

Boy born to Reznacks
Victor and Kathy Reznack of Granite City have announced the birth of their first child, a son, born Oct. 9 at Deaconess Hospital in St. Louis. The boy weighed 8 pounds, 10 ounces at birth and has been named Andrew Vance.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Warren Leeper, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Victor Reznack, all of Granite City. Great-grandparents are Vance Reznack of Granite City, Caroline Leeper and Mildred Nicholson, both of St. Louis.

cy and have the state take over," Konzen warned.

Noting that he is a product of the Granite City Park School System, Konzen commented that Granite City students rate well above the national and state averages and the vocational program is rated very highly in the state.

Passage of both school district propositions to be offered in the Nov. 6 election would increase the property taxes on a $50,000 home about $100 a year, he estimated.

George Sykes, president of the Granite City Park Board of Commissioners, commenting that it was difficult to follow the school bond issue with the park district proposal, urged approval for $1.5 million general obligation bond referendum for a new Wilson Park swimming pool, saying its passage would cost taxpayers about 11 cents per $100 assessed valuation, or an average of $25 in increased taxes a year.

"A new Olympic-size pool will prove a valuable asset to the community and will be very good for the people who cannot afford a backyard pool or membership in a private club," he said.

"We are not asking for anything extravagant," he added, again urging approval of the bond issue.

John Bush, representing U.S. Senator Charles Percy, said President Ronald Reagan calls Percy "the best salesman for Illinois." He said Percy has played a critical part in the economic recovery by supporting the 25 percent reduction of income taxes and in the tax indexing issue. He urged Percy's re-election for "our advantage in Illinois."

Madison County Circuit Court Clerk Willard "Butch" Portell pointed out that he is unopposed in the November election and said he believes "in making ourselves responsible to the people" and noted that "a lot of work is being accomplished to modernize the (circuit clerk's) office."

He briefly reviewed the first steps in a pilot program instituted in Madison County, which is new to downstate Illinois, involving collection of child support payments. "Our job is to serve you and to be compassionate," he emphasized.

Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber, a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket, commented "I am proud to be standing next to Sam Vadala," and added, "Not at issue is what ticket you are running under."

He noted that his top three administrators are all women. "This was not the result of a concerted effort, but it just so happened because they were most qualified for the job and I am proud to say it," Weber stated.

Through actions of his office, cases involving child support payments "have increased from $100,000 in 1980 to over $1 million to day," he said.

In his personal trial record, which shows a 90 percent conviction rate, Weber noted that he has obtained 60 felony convictions, five out of five murder convictions, nine out of nine convictions for armed robbery and 24 convictions out of 24 sex-related cases.

Weber compared his experience as a trial lawyer with his opponent, Richard "Dick" Allen, who was unable to be present at the forum.

Also addressing the group was Circuit Judge William "Bill" Johnson, who is seeking retention and urged the audience to discount "all the rumors now being heard. I promised to work hard six years ago and I've done that by completing more jury trials in Illinois than any other judge, including those in Cook County," he said.

Also speaking were Dr. Edward L. Braud, candidate for county coroner; Arthur "Pete" Fields, incumbent county auditor, and Michael "Mike" McNamee, candidate for county auditor.

Other dignitaries introduced were Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, Madison County Democratic Central Committee Chairman Mac Warfield, Granite City Clerk Robert W. Stevens, Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse, who is a mayoral candidate in Granite City, and County Treasurer Michael "Mick" Henkhaus.

Barbara Hodges, Gateway BPW president, and Debra Saltich, club legislative chairman, welcomed the guests.

The invocation prior to dinner was given by LaVelle Stephens and Sen. Vadala presided the Pledge of Allegiance.

Bar poll ranks Judge Johnson as qualified

Third Judicial Circuit Judge William E. Johnson was evaluated by a lawyers' poll by the Illinois State Bar Association as "qualified" to serve, it was announced yesterday.

Johnson, who is seeking retention on the Nov. 6 general election ballot, scored lower than most other judges on the pole, but scored high enough to earn the "qualified" label.

Of 167 ballots returned by attorneys to the bar association, Johnson had a summary score of 73.13 of a possible 100. Scores of 90 and above were rated "highly qualified," scores between 70 and 89 were rated "qualified" and scores below 70 points rated those judges at "not recommended."

In St. Clair County, Judge Stephen M. Kernan scored 81.26 to be listed as "qualified."

Jon W. DeMoss of Springfield, president of the ISBA, urged voters to become informed about judicial candidates. "The importance of retaining good judges so that the justice system is administered effectively cannot be overstated," he said.

Lawyers responding to the poll were asked between 15 and 17 questions on each candidate covering legal ability, integrity, temperament and the ability to manage court business.

Low scores do not reflect on any candidate's ability as a lawyer, but reflect that other attorneys do not wish to recommend him or her for the judicial office being sought, a news release from the bar association said.

Moad unhappy with repair list

Granite City Alderman Woodrow "Woody" Moad told city council members Tuesday night that he is not happy with the streets that have been designated for resurfacing in his ward.

Moad contended that none of the streets that he requested for resurfacing, have been placed on the list. Although, there are some streets included from his ward, he said that some other streets are in greater need than the ones listed.

Moad said he feels National Avenue is in desperate need of resurfacing. He also stated that he feels the process of resurfacing some of the concrete streets (such as Franklin Avenue) could be handled in a more efficient way.

When Moad tried to continue his case, Mayor Paul Schuler declared him out of order.

Schuler said that it was difficult to budget the money for street repairs among each ward, but the city is doing its best to be fair.

County board

The final vote was 16 in favor of the dismissal, with 12 against.

Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith left the board meeting after the failure of the dismissal. "I'm ticked off," he said. "Everybody's been pulling an ear and Barton is anchoring things down. If the best man in the world was in the supervisor's office, and he had the heat on him like Barton, he couldn't perform. This will cost the taxpayers a lot of money."

Smith told reporters that when Barton was first indicted in 1982 on charges of official misconduct, the state's attorney's office offered him a deal in which the charges would be dismissed if Barton resigned his post.

"OUR PURPOSE was to get someone in the office who could complete the tax cycle," Smith related. "The three lawyers recommended he take the deal, but he didn't."

Again, Smith continued, the state's attorney's office tried to strike another deal with Barton when he was indicted Sept. 21. This agreement would have paid Barton his salary until the end of the term, about $6,100, if he would resign.

"At 4 o'clock yesterday, Barton's attorney, J. William Lacco called and said they would not accept the deal because Barton could rely on his friends on the county board."

SMITH ALSO MENTIONED the fact that four county board members voting against the dismissal of Barton have relatives who work for the supervisor of assessments.

Herbert "Junior" Milton of Granite City and William Little of Alton voted against the dismissal and both have daughters who work for Barton. They deny that the situation influenced their vote.

"If it had been my mother, it wouldn't make a difference," Milton said.

LITTLE NOTED THAT there are several board members who are friends or relatives working for the county.

With a 14 to 12 vote, board members did approve a resolution "ordering" Barton to take a leave of absence without pay because of the pending indictment. Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City noted that he has seen nothing in the statutes allowing a county board to order a leave of absence.

The board members also approved a resolution on a 13 to 12 vote asking that Finck take a leave of absence without pay.

SMITH TOLD THE Press-Record that Barton and Finck are not required to abide by the resolutions, calling them an "invitation to surrender." The county board, he said, has no authority to force someone to take a leave of absence, although they do have the authority to dismiss Barton.

Adams told the board that 7½ years ago, the highway commission was $50,000 in the black. Now, he says, the department is using $100,000 in anticipation warrants, and outstanding bills total $54,000.

"MY FIRST CONCERN," he noted, "is to get the equipment in good shape and get ready to save money will be bid out. We've got to, because we've got a hard way to go until the end of April."

Trustee Joseph Garcia told the audience, which consisted mostly of highway department employees, that he has requested that Adams submit a report to him on the highway department every two weeks. Garcia is chairman of the road and bridge committee.

After the swearing-in ceremonies, Adams told those attending the meeting that he intends to honor an arbitration judgment allowing former highway employee Ray Denison to return to work.

DENISON'S POSITION with the department, and his wife's position as dispatcher, were abolished in September of last year. An arbitrator ruled that Denison and his wife should be allowed to return to work last April, but the two were never reinstated.

Denison and his wife testified against then-commissioner Mehele in his trial for official misconduct. Adams added that the highway department does not have the money to immediately add the four highway employees who worked during the summer and were laid off for the winter months.

ADAMS TOLD THE Press-Record that he will keep his position in maintenance with Granite City School District 9. He says he plans to be at the highway department in the mornings before going to work for the school district, and that he will be in constant contact with the highway workers and on 24-hour call.

"I've got a working foreman. I'll come by and line out the work, and he'll carry it out," Adams explained. He says he also will use evenings and weekends to patrol the township and to carry out his duties as highway commissioner.

As the new highway commissioner, Adams will be paid $45 a day.

MEANWHILE, TOWNSHIP Supervisor Harry Briggs said the board now must appoint someone to fill the vacancy created by Adams' resignation from the board. He anticipates the board will take that action at the next regular board meeting Monday, Oct. 22.

Adams was appointed as highway commissioner after Mehele was ordered to vacate the office by 5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 12. Mehele was convicted July 17 of one count of official misconduct for ordering Denison to work on a personal car.

Last month, he was sentenced to two years of probation, ordered to devote 200 hours to public service work and was fined $500 plus court costs. The sentence and fine, however, have been stayed while Mehele appeals his conviction.

He is free on a $10,000 recognizance bond, but he still faces five more counts of official misconduct on grand jury indictments alleging that he directed employees to perform personal work for him on township time.

cases like the Karla Brown killing and the three Gusewelle murders.

GRANITE CITY POLICE were praised for the thoroughness of their study of the slayings of Richard Kube, 79, and Anna Kube, 83, who were strangled in the basement of their home.

Weber said he plans to work with local and state authorities in the Kube case and introduce new evidence-gathering techniques, including some of those used to revive the Brown murder, the suspect in the latter case is now serving a 75-year prison term.

Listing anti-crime seminars he has attended and taught, the state's attorney said he learned it was typical for a corruption fighter like himself to encounter legal obstacles challenging his methods and intent.

In a statement prepared for his appearance at the Rotary luncheon, Weber said:

"THREE TIMES, out-of-county judges have overruled Madison County judges' orders concerning the prosecution of Supervisor of Assessments Jim Barton. The Appellate and Supreme courts overruled Associate Judge Edward Ferguson's dismissal of the first charge and remanded it back to our Circuit Court for trial.

"Judge Dennis Cashman overruled Circuit Judge Philip Barick's order barring me from investigating practices in the assessment office. And Judge Howard Lee White dismissed charges against me arising out of my thinking of indicting Barton, stating that the charges against me were groundless.

"JUDGE WHITE specifically found my actions did not violate a civil or criminal statute, an administrative rule or regulation, a Supreme Court rule or a Code of Ethics provision and that my actions were not to the detriment of the public.

"Despite clear, consistent, well-reasoned and unanimous opinions vindicating me, my opponent continues to insist on interfering the

Granite City (Ill.) Press-Record

Barton issue into this campaign.

"Apparently he has decided this is an expedient issue, since he initially indicated any discussion of the Barton matter now in litigation would be unethical.

"I FEEL STRONGLY that my opponent's negative campaign is doing the public a disservice. The public expects—and should receive—a campaign based on issues and qualifications, not on innuendo, misstatements of fact and woefully inadequate comprehension of criminal law.

"But because he has spent so much money on his 'only you can release the transcripts' campaign, I am responding to these nonsensical and irrelevant charges.

"I strongly favor full public disclosure, emphasizing 'full.'

"MY OPPONENT demands I release grand jury testimony on why I considered indicting Barton for bribery and official misconduct in March 1984. I would be delighted to see disclosure of all evidence relating to my ruminations in March about Barton.

"Contrary to these assertions, I do not have and never had the material. The judge's special prosecutor, Paul Verticchio, has.

"My opponent says 'only you' can release grand jury testimony. Such is not my case. I do not have, and never have had, the testimony he thinks is so vital.

"WHEN I ATTEMPTED last month to obtain part of the testimony, I was prevented by a Sept. 21, 1984, court order stating: 'To rule otherwise would violate the integrity of the grand jury proceedings and would be a violation of Illinois Statutes, Chapter 38, Section 124.6.'

"What he apparently overlooked is a fact the public has known for six months: The charges against me were dismissed as groundless before any grand jury transcripts were even available to me.

"Even if I had or could obtain the transcripts, I (12-60b) would be their release on the terms my opponent suggests. Disclosure of grand jury proceedings is prohibited except by court order, any person who discloses it other than by court order is in contempt of court.

"ALLEN NEVER HAS, to my knowledge, handled presentation of evidence to a grand jury or prosecuted a case arising out of a grand jury proceeding. Does he want to be paid $85,000 a year for on-the-job training?"

"His lack of experience is no excuse for lack of comprehension of the very grand jury process that he seeks a mandate from the people to direct. And his allegations—on my supposed exclusive ability to produce what I don't have, can't get and couldn't release anyway—demonstrate his inability to understand the state's attorney office which he seeks.

"In the interest of the criminal justice system, I add a note of caution before we proceed, at my opponent's insistence, to open 'a Pandora's box.'

"DUE TO ALLEGED press publicity, Barton nearly escaped trial on charges brought against him in 1982," Weber said.

"Thanks to courts outside our county, the Appellate and Supreme. Barton I, we should all be acutely aware of pre-trial publicity problems, the very problems my opponent is trying to interject into this election campaign.

"Although the Supreme Court recently approved Appellate reversal of Judge Ferguson's dismissal of Barton I, we should all be acutely aware of pre-trial publicity problems, the very problems my opponent is trying to interject into this election campaign.

"Abundant evidence exists on the public record, vindicating my actions this spring. This includes the text of the indictments against Barton and three others; the court opinions overruling Madison County judges and their special prosecutor; and statements made to the press by witnesses.

"FURTHER DISCUSSION can only help aid Barton's defense and turn a serious case into a political football, all to the detriment of the public.

"Balancing the public's right to know and defendants' pre-trial rights, I offer the following proposal: 'If my opponent can fashion some sort of magical judicial proceeding as required by the grand jury secrecy statute; if all possible defendants agree to release all evidence to the public; and if the court enters an order as required by Section 112-6(b), I will agree to release.'

"All evidence and testimony on my reasons for considering the indictment of Barton, provided Allen agrees to simultaneous disclosure of all evidence, including wiretaps, linking Barton to Allen and linking the Allen campaign to the Barton defense fund, (Allen says there is no link-Alten link).

"IF THE PUBLIC has a right to know, it has the right to know the full, complete story," Weber continued.

"The defense lawyers running his campaign—and who have tried to run this county for too many years—aren't used to the close scrutiny they have received during my administration.

"As a sort of vigorous prosecution of corruption, I have incurred the wrath of certain powerful political figures. The State Elections Board went over my 1980 campaign finances and concluded my disclosure forms were the most complete and accurate in the state.

"THE ILLINOIS DIVISION of Criminal Investigation investigated every facet of my public and private life, interviewed over 100 witnesses and, in the end, gave me not one but two awards for my contributions to law enforcement.

"Eight Democratic judges appointed me, and the only thing found was that I committed the act of thinking about indicting Barton, an 'offense' not one of our out-of-county judges then threw out as groundless.

"There are many pressing issues in law enforcement today. Modern criminality involves a high degree of training, expertise and skill.

"SEXUAL ABUSE of children and domestic violence require immediate and serious attention. Irrelevant debates about issues that were raised and settled months ago can only muddy the water for voters.

"I hope this campaign would address these pressing issues and be decided on qualifications and experience, not on charges and speculation.

I now hope my opponent redirects his campaign toward an exposition of his own qualifications and experience. I'm running on my record. Why is he running away from his?

WEBER SOUGHT to videotape the Weber-Allen debate Nov. 12 in Godfrey but did not do so due to Allen's objection, Weber said. He added that two radio stations were barred from recording it.

Weber told Tuesday's program chairman, Irvin Slate Jr., that he would have been willing to play a Nov. 12 videotape here in lieu of speaking.

Asserting he would bring up no issues not referred to in the debate, the state's attorney said he is running on the basis of his 1980 promises, not 1984 promises.

"VIOLENT CRIME in this county in the past three years is down 36 percent, 2½ times more than the 15 percent Illinois decrease and 3½ times the decrease in St. Clair County," he told the Rotary members and guests.

"Other crimes are down 12½ percent, which is better than the state decrease. Instead of 15 cents of each year's county tax dollars, as in 1980, the 1984 cost of my office is 7½ cents."

Weber said his opponent opposes capital punishment, while the incumbent thinks it is "cruel and unusual" only because victims' families nearly always must wait many years to see the death penalty carried out.

The speaker said he personally has tried more than 60 felonies, of which only about 10 were "headline cases."

HIS SUCCESS RATE was described as more than 90 percent, with convictions on five of five murders, nine of nine armed robberies, 24 of 28 crimes, five of five drug cases, five of five burglaries and two of two murder attempts.

Weber said Allen was "a McCarthy delegate in 1972, a McGovern delegate in 1972, a member of the 1972 'truth squad' that helped defeat Paul Simon in the gubernatorial primary because Allen thought Simon was not liberal enough and had 'sold out' the liberal cause. I don't agree with Simon on a lot of issues but I don't think he ever gave in on an ethical principle for political gain," Weber commented.

Weber warned that whoever wins Nov. 6 will immediately find himself opposing famed lawyer F. Lee Bailey in a murder case.

HE QUESTIONED whether Allen could ably handle the "Barton I" trial from a 1984 indictment; he quoted Allen, although running for prosecutor, as publicly questioning whether entrapment had occurred and whether the chief prosecution witness could be relied on.

Weber strongly defended his handling of an investigation in which a teacher was linked to intimacy with young school girls. Although the convicted man took his own life, extraordinary steps had been taken by the prosecution to prevent such a result, the audience was told.

Raising the question of whether a particular Democratic judge and a Democratic defense lawyer (not Allen) were soft on the issue of drug abuse, Weber outlined in detail his unsuccessful effort to obtain a prison term for a Kirkpatrick Homes woman convicted of distributing drugs to Granite City High School students.

He said he knows QuadCityans generally vote Democratic, and made a plea for local GOP votes, saying residents have much at stake affecting the future of their home town and their county.

GC aldermen accept termination requests

Granite City aldermen accepted termination requests from two Granite City employees Tuesday night.

In communications to the council, both Victor Koenig, Emergency Services and Disaster Agency coordinator, and Peggy Keltner, data processing coordinator, submitted notice of their retirement.

Koenig, who has been the local civil defense director since 1961, is retiring due to health problems. His retirement date is set for Oct. 31, 1984.

Mrs. Keltner, has served the city for 19 years. Council members did not approve Mrs. Keltner's notice as a retirement, but as a resignation, because of her new employment with an Alton firm.

She terminated her service with the city on Oct. 8, 1984.

Freshman enrollment raises 11 percent at SIUE

Fall quarter total freshman enrollment is up 11 percent at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, compared to freshman enrollment last fall.

Eugene Magac, director of admissions and records, reported there are 2,447 freshmen enrolled, compared to 2,200 last year.

OVER TIME the past three years, student enrollment at the University has remained comparatively stable. Magac said tenth-year enrollment for the fall quarter is 10,247, compared to last year's figure of 10,380.

Full-time student enrollment during the current quarter is 6,468, while the number of part-time students is 3,779.

Academic credit hour production this fall shows an increase over that of last year. Magac reported that students are enrolled for a total of 114,496 credit hours this fall, compared to 114,175 credit hours produced last year.

STUDENT ENROLLMENT in the School of Nursing shows an increase over last year's enrollment. This fall, there are 596 students pursuing a career in nursing, compared to last year's 536. Lois Cady, assistant dean for academic affairs in the School of Nursing, attributed the increase to several factors, including a new specialty of community health nursing at the graduate level and a continued interest in the bachelor of science completion degree for registered nurses.

Week End University also shows an increase of 259 enrollments this fall. Week End University has 1,727 enrollments, compared to 1,468 last year.

The number of minority students (blacks, orientals, Indians and Hispanics) rose from 1,575 in 1983 to 1,739.

ASSET testing conducted Thursday nights at GCC

Granite City Center (GCC) of Belleville Area College will be offering the new ACT ASSET testing program to interested individuals each Thursday, beginning tonight. Testing will continue through Dec. 20.

According to Ray Moddrell, director of student development at GCC, students taking the test should be prepared to spend three hours at the center. Students will not only take the exam, but also will be given a short orientation to the facility and will receive a counseling session.

There is no fee for the test and no registration is required. The test is given in Room 542, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Moddrell said many students are unnecessarily apprehensive about the ASSET testing. In an effort to help students understand the ASSET process, Moddrell agreed to answer some basic questions about the program. Questions and answers follow.

Q: What is ASSET?
A: ASSET is an assessment-advising-orientation program designed to identify a student's basic skill levels in math, reading and language usage. The primary goal of this assessment process is to efficiently and effectively gather information about the student's needs, skills and plans, as a step in assisting the student to develop and implement a sound program of study, that leads to the student's goal.

Q: ASSET was developed by ACT—who is ACT?

A: ACT stands for American College of Testing. ACT has an international reputation for quality educational program and research.

Q: Why do students have to take an assessment program?

A: Because GCC wants students to be as successful as possible. Research shows that when students enter the proper sequence of math and/or English early, it is not only helpful, but it has a very positive and beneficial carry-over effect on all the classes students take from that point on.

Q: What does the ASSET program tell students?

A: The assessment part tells students the proper starting point for their math and English classes. The advising portion tells students how to register and answers questions about GCC programs. The orientation part shares information about the school and the resources and services it provides.

Q: How is ASSET beneficial?

A: Math is a discipline that exercises your thinking and reasoning skills. English addresses reading speed and comprehension, as well as grammar and writing skills. So starting off correctly in these areas lays the proper ground work for future classes. And on the job, basic skills of reading, writing and thinking will be, always of great importance.

Q: What if a student thinks he is placed incorrectly in a class level?

A: Since ASSET is a product of ACT, it is already a well researched and sophisticated measurement. It has been normed both nationally and locally. Many times if a person has taken the ACT, comparison of ACT composite scores in subject areas can re-validate the ASSET score.

Q: Do students have to take the ASSET?

A: Persons who are new or transfer students taking three or more college credit courses do. Also, persons who are taking a first-time college math or English class must take the test. Persons do not have to take ASSET if they have taken a college level math course at another college or university or if they possess a degree from another college or if they are taking a certified program not requiring college level math or English.

Q: Can students take the ASSET over if they do not do well?

A: No, they cannot. Unlike the ACT, there is not a different version to take. If students have extremely extenuating circumstances, they should contact a counselor.

Q: Can students take the math or English part separately?

A: No, the entire test is part of the entry process. There may be circumstances where a student may have had either math or English at another college or university. In that event, students may take whatever part they may need.

Persons requiring further information on the ASSET program may contact GCC at 931-0600.

"SPLASH" (PG), ONE OF 1984's biggest comedy hits, comes to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Oct. 19. The film will be shown in the science auditorium, located on the first floor of the Science Building, at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Tickets are $2 for SIUE students with identification and $2.50 for non-students. They may be purchased at the University Center's Union Station.

The movie stars Tom Hanks, John Candy, Daryl Hannah and Eugene Levy. Directed by Ron Howard, the film is an old-fashioned love story with a new twist — the heroine has fins. According to the story line, a beautiful mermaid surfaces on Manhattan's shore, determined to find the man of her dreams. Tom Hanks is the susceptible young bachelor who falls in love with her when she sprouts legs and follows him home.

SIUE improvement projects approved

Approval of a project to improve heating, cooling and ventilating control systems in several buildings at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was granted last week by the SIUE Board of Trustees. The board also approved retention of a Bloomington firm to provide engineering services for the project.

Funding for the project, totaling $184,536, will be provided from a U.S. Department of Energy grant of $90,768, matched by state appropriations to the university.

NAMED TO provide engineering services was the firm of Buchanan, Belkows and Associates, Ltd. University officers said improvements in the control systems were recommended as a result of an energy audit conducted by the university with the assistance of this firm.

The energy conservation project will include installation of reheating systems and temperature controls in Peck Classroom Building; conversion of the reheating systems to a variable air volume system in the Science Building; and installation of mixed air controls in the skylight units in Classroom Buildings II and III.

University officers said the anticipated payback periods for the work are 1.2 years for Peck Building and Classroom Buildings II and III, and 1.5 years for the Science Building.

An energy analysis of all major campus facilities at SIUE was completed in 1982. The audit was updated in March, 1984, resulting in recommendations for the completion of several projects which were submitted for partial funding by the U.S. Department of Energy.

Day care center plan sent to IBHE

The Child Care Center project at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, given preliminary approval by the SIUE Board of Trustees last month, will be submitted to the Illinois Board of Higher Education (IBHE) for approval as a noninstructional capital improvement.

Meeting at the SIUE East St. Louis Campus, the Board approved submission of the $20,300 project for consideration at the Dec. 4 meeting of the IBHE. Financing for the project would be provided by two sources: $180,000 from the Student Welfare and Recreation Trust Fund, and $100,500 from internal operating funds.

THE FACILITY, which would be located in the area south of the campus water tower, would consist of a 5,000-square-foot center and an adjacent 7,500-square-foot fenced playground to handle 100 or more children with day care, pre-school and drop-off services.

University officers said projected operating expenses and fee schedules for the new center indicate that the facility would be self-supporting. Service priority would be given to SIUE students and then to the children of faculty and staff if any excess capacity existed. Currently, area child care services reportedly are operating at or near capacity, and many, including SIUE, have waiting lists.

Skills for secretaries discussed

The Center for Management Studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will hold a seminar on management skills for secretaries.

The seminar is scheduled Oct. 23 to 24 from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. at the Henry VIII Lodge and Inn, located at 4690 North Lindbergh Blvd. in St. Louis.

PERSONS participating in the seminar will learn techniques for managing their workloads, improving office teamwork, writing professionally, and handling confrontations.

Other topics to be considered during the seminar include: motivation, public relations and the professional image, action planning, time management, decision-making and problem solving.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting James F. Miller Jr., director of the SIUE Center for Management Studies, by calling 1-692-2668.

FOR THE HEALTH OF IT. Bob Oser, new owner of The Natural Habit food store, displays some of the items available at the Crossroads Plaza store. Oser says items offered in the store include a full line of discounted vitamins and supplements, juices, nectars, preservative-free potato chips, seeds, nuts and candy.

Natural foods may offer healthy, tasty alternative

The days when natural food stores catered almost exclusively to health food fanatics and vegetarians are waning. Instead, the housewife who wants to lose weight, the body-builder who wants to gain weight, the patient on a restricted diet and the businessman who has realized "you are what you eat" are the types of people now visiting natural food stores.

"People are just becoming more interested in their health and well-being, and they're just discovering that these things (natural foods) taste good. It used to be you had to be a fanatic to try these things," says Bob Oser, new owner of The Natural Habit, a health-food store located in Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center.

Since the store has come under new ownership, Oser is celebrating all month with sales, samples and a cooking class conducted each Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. Oser leads the cooking classes, which feature Oriental and vegetarian dishes.

Other than the specials, Oser says he has added "a lot of new things." Such things include sugar-free, caffeine-free chocolate and cereals, vitamins and supplements, bulk herbs and spices, nuts, seeds, fruits and salt- and wheat-free products.

In addition, Natural Habit stocks tofu and tempeh—soybean based mixtures that may be used in dishes as a meat substitute.

Oser points out that most natural foods are not new—that people ate natural foods all the time before the introduction of preservatives and chemical pre-packaged foods.

Natural Habit is Oser's second natural food store. He has owned another such store in Belleville for the past year and a half.

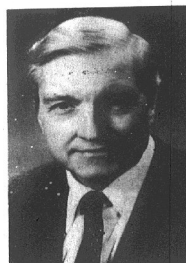

The 36-year-old Oser, who lives with his wife and family in Shiloh, Ill., says he first started eating natural foods 10 years ago. "Before that, I wouldn't touch a vegetable. I was strictly into cooking-bags and TV dinners."

But then, Oser relates, he visited a friend in Colorado and that friend introduced him to natural foods.

"I taught myself to cook, lost weight and started feeling better," he notes.

PUBLIC SERVICE ORDERED

Circuit Judge Paul J. O'Neill has ordered Carrys Isaac, 21, of 63 Venice Homes, Venice, to perform 150 hours of public service, spend two years on probation and pay a $150 fine, $95 court costs and $15 special costs. Arrested on a felony theft that occurred July 6 in Venice, Isaac pleaded guilty later that month.

SEN. PERCY

CONG. SIMON

Strong challenge to Sen. Percy by Cong. Simon

Democrat Paul Simon is challenging the Republican incumbent, Charles Percy, for the U.S. Senate, Nov. 6.

A poll in early October showed Simon slightly ahead for the first time. Previous polls had the two running neck and neck or Percy in the lead.

SEN. PERCY, is seeking his fourth six-year term. He chairs the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and is also on the Governmental Affairs Committee and the Select Committee on Aging. He and his wife, Lorine, live in a Cook County suburb.

Percy joined Bell & Howell after service in the Navy during World War II and, at age 29, was named president of the company.

Simon, 55, a U.S. representative from the 22nd District, is well known in this area.

HE ONCE LIVED IN Troy before moving to Southern Illinois, and owned the Troy Tribune. Simon's mother still lives in Collinsville. Simon was elected to the Illinois house in 1954 and was re-elected in 1956, 1958 and 1960. He was elected to the Illinois Senate in 1962 and was re-elected in 1966.

He was the state's lieutenant governor from 1969 to 1973, losing the gubernatorial primary in 1972.

He was first elected to Congress in 1974 and has served there 10 years. He and wife, Jeannette, live in Mankato.

IN VIGOROUS campaigning, Percy and Simon fire off news releases almost daily, give public talks and use the broadcast media to criticize each other on the issues.

Percy likes to label Simon as an ultra-liberal and big spender.

Simon likes to label Percy with supporting "Reaganomics for the benefit of the wealthy."

SIMON SAYS Percy has received tens of thousands of dollars in campaign contributions from oil companies and has voted with them against the best interests of homeowners and consumers.

Referring to Percy's campaign slogan, "The Illinois Advantage," Simon has said his opponent, because of those contributions, should be known as the "Oklahoma Advantage" instead. The challenger says Federal Election Commission records show Percy has received $67,400 since 1982 from 38 corporations that have some involvement with gas and oil.

Percy, on the other hand, likes to point out that Simon voted against federal income tax cuts, cuts that Percy himself supported, and that Simon opposes tax indexing.

PERCY SAYS the National Taxpayers Union has cited Simon as one of the "worst big spenders" in Congress.

Simon contends Illinois needs a more influential senator in order to get more defense contracts for this state. He chides Percy for the fact that the junior senator, Alan Dixon of Belleville, and not Percy, introduced a bill to require that more government contracts be let out for bids. Simon is a cosponsor of a similar bill in the House.

Percy lists himself as an original cosponsor of the President's Economic Recovery Tax Act, which included 25 percent tax cuts over a three-year period.

HE SAYS SIMON was one of those voting unsuccessfully against the measure. Percy says a family of four earning $30,000 a year will save $1,079 in 1984 taxes because of the Economic Recovery Act.

Percy authorized the Debt Collection Act of 1962 as a tool to collect more than $44 million in delinquent debts owed the federal government.

Simon says he had more bills winning passage in this session of Congress than did any of his colleagues.

He was the sponsor of the Missing Children's Act, which creates a computer information center nationwide for locating missing children.

CHIEF SPONSOR of the Emergency Math, Science and Foreign Language Act of 1984, Simon cosponsored amusement park safety requirements.

Simon also is chief House sponsor of the Civil Rights Act of 1984, a measure aimed at reducing discrimination against women and the handicapped.

He is a sponsor of the Natural Gas Consumer Relief Act to roll back home heating prices and limit future increases. Congress has not yet acted on that bill.

SIMON HAS ARGUED communities in Illinois to put the issue on their ballots Nov. 6 as an advisory referendum to send a message to Congress. It is on the Granite City ballot.

Percy says he supports Pres. Reagan's defense and foreign policies; Simon says the U.S. has no foreign policy under Reagan.

The senator says the U.S. needs to develop technology that allows industry to produce without polluting the environment.

SIMON SPONSORED legislation to expand the national Superfund for cleanup of toxic wastes. He says Percy joined in a 1980 move to kill the Superfund.

Simon is proposing a deficit reduction plan which he says could close tax loopholes rather than raise taxes. Percy has criticized the plan as vague and ultimately relying on tax increases.

In addition to Percy and Simon, four other candidates for U.S. Senate will appear on the ballot: Communist Ishmael Flory, Socialist Worker Nelson Gonzalez, Libertarian Steven Givort and Citizen Marjorie Price.

John Taylor of Chicago has launched a write-in campaign for the Senate seat.

Recent arrests for driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs include:

—John Hayden, 50, of 2100 Alexander Ave., was arrested after his pickup truck allegedly hit a parked auto at 1312 Edwardsville road last week and then struck it again during an attempt to move the truck. He was freed seven hours later on $102 bail.

—Richard H. Archer, 55, of Breese, Ill., arrested on Route 3 near the McKinley Toll Bridge, Venice, during the weekend.

Archer was heading south on Route 3 when his vehicle allegedly crossed into a northbound lane and struck the auto of Joan Lea O'Donnell, 39, of Berkeley, Mo., which was traveling north.

Archer also was charged with improper lane usage. He was released after posting a $302 cash bond.

—William Everett Margrave, 49, of 1224 Madison Ave., Madison, last week in the 1200 block of State Street after declining to take a breathalyzer test. He also was charged with reckless driving.

—Fred A. Brown, 28, of 2616 Madison Ave., was arrested for DUI and failing to reduce speed to avoid a crash last week in the 300 block of Madison Avenue, where his southbound auto hit seven posts along the Granite City High School driveway.

—Guerra Ramon, 30, of 37 Fairway Estates, was arrested by Illinois State Police early this week on Black Lane, one-half mile south of State Aid 35. Ramon refused to take a breath test.

Allege Mitchell youth flees, DUI

An incident which started at Nameoki and Pontoon roads in the early morning hours during the weekend, of a Mitchell youth near his home.

Robert E. Kirkover, 18, of 701 Ashland Ave., Mitchell, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, fleeing and attempting to elude a police officer and disobeying a flashing red light.

An officer turning south on Nameoki Road from Pontoon Road alleged a car ran through a flashing red traffic signal light and almost struck his squad car. He pursued the vehicle north on Route 203 into Mitchell, where the driver turned onto Voigt Avenue and the officer lost sight of the car, reports said.

After terminating the chase, but before leaving the area, the officer was told by a motorist that the car being sought was in the 700 block of Ashland Avenue.

The suspect vehicle was found parked in the driveway at a house, where the resident denied ownership of the car. Steam was coming from beneath the hood and the driver could not be located, so a tow truck was summoned to remove the vehicle, reports said.

At that point, a large crowd of people which had gathered in the area began yelling and screaming at the officers. One youth, later identified as Kirkover, allegedly started yelling at a Madison County sheriff's deputy and was ordered to be quiet and leave the scene. The youth allegedly refused to leave and continued to yell and was placed in a squad car.

Kirkover was later identified by the officer involved in the pursuit as the driver of the fleeing auto and was charged. He was released upon posting a $302 cash bond, pending a court appearance.

ARREST NEAR APARTMENTS

Lawrence Dev, 38, of 2005 Troy Ave., Madison, was arrested in the 2300 block of Kirkpatrick Homes for disorderly conduct this month after residents alleged a man exposed himself and opened doors at several apartments. Dev pleaded innocent Thursday and was released on $2,500 recognizance.

Taken was an eight-foot aluminum ladder, a 16-foot aluminum ladder, a post hole digger, a chain saw, an electric drill, a sabre saw, a rake and a tool box containing assorted tools. The total value of the items taken is $508.

MAN EXPOSES SELF TO 13-YEAR-OLD GIRL

A 13-year-old girl told Madison Police last week that a man exposed himself to her while she was walking on Farish Street.

The girl said she left the Madison Middle School and was walking south on Farish Street when she came to the stop sign at Harris Avenue, she said a man driving a light brown older automobile turned the corner and stopped in front of her.

She said the man, described as being 5 feet, 5 inches, weighing 150 pounds, having brown hair and wearing blue jeans, a T-shirt and a blue cap, alighted from the vehicle and appeared to be checking the car's tires when he exposed himself. The girl ran away, north on Farish Street.

WANTED. Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville police are seeking information about this man, described by a female student at the university who was grabbed and thrown to the ground shortly before noon Wednesday, Oct. 10.

The incident occurred on the walkway between the Science Building and the Bubble Gym. Persons having information on the identity of the man are asked to call the SIUE police at 1-692-3324.

Miss Johnson was charged with four counts of aggravated assault, unlawful use of a weapon, not having a Firearm Owner's Identification card and parking where prohibited.

In an appearance in the Granite City court, Miss Johnson pleaded innocent and bond was set at $5,000. Bond for Abney, who also pleaded innocent, was $4,000.

Both were transferred to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville. A hearing on Abney's warrant before Associate Judge Edward G. Ferguson was scheduled Wednesday in Edwardsville.

Reports allege Miss Johnson came out of her apartment in a military fatigue outfit, tucking an object into her waistband. She allegedly made threats and pulled out a weapon, pointing it toward where neighbors and two small children were standing before driving away.

Later that day, a male neighbor alleged Abney and Miss Johnson got out of a car and Abney threatened him, aimed a pistol and fired a shot. The bullet struck a screen door within six inches of the victim's head and then struck the brick exterior of the apartment building, reports said.

Madison police went to the Second Street address the following day after Miss Johnson and a 15-year-old Madison youth were seen leaving the apartment building, carrying some items.

A .38-caliber weapon and 28 live rounds of ammunition were confiscated at that time. She was arrested. Abney's arrest at an address in the 2000 block of Sken Street, Madison, followed.

SERVE COUNTY WARRANT
Stephen W. Underwood, 36, of 3702 Kirkpatrick Homes, was taken into Custody last week at 21st Street and Madison Avenue on an active warrant issued by the Madison County Sheriff's Department alleging failure to pay a fine on a charge of driving while his license was suspended. He was released the same day to a Madison County deputy for transfer to Edwardsville.

The other two subjects, William Lindsey, 19, of 722 State St. and a minor from Madison, were charged with illegal possession of alcohol by a minor and consumption of alcohol by a minor.

Police respond to 23 accidents

Twenty-three mishaps during the weekend kept Granite City police officers busy. Three of the accidents involved injuries, however, none apparently was serious.

At 12:05 p.m. Saturday, Patsy M. Allen, 1807 Primrose Ave., was stopped at a red light in the northbound lanes of N Nameoki Road at Pontoon Road when her auto was struck from the rear with a car driven by Edward W. Noland, 42, of 7 Mercer Drive. Noland reported his foot slipped from the brake.

Madison pair taken to county facility

Sandra A. Johnson, 22, of 1511 Second St., Apt. 8, Madison, and Earl D. Abney, 41, of the same apartment building, were booked on multiple charges last week following incidents outside the apartment complex.

Abney was charged with unlawful use of a weapon, criminal damage to property, reckless conduct, aggravated assault and not having a Firearm Owner's Identification card. He also was charged with failing to appear on a Madison County warrant, alleging violation of probation.

Miss Johnson was charged with four counts of aggravated assault, unlawful use of a weapon, not having a Firearm Owner's Identification card and parking where prohibited.

In an appearance in the Granite City court, Miss Johnson pleaded innocent and bond was set at $5,000. Bond for Abney, who also pleaded innocent, was $4,000.

Park supporters active in backing of pool bond issue

The Granite City Park Board met last week at the park office to review the results of various speaking engagements on behalf of the proposed bond issue for a new swimming pool and to plan future information presentations to explain all segments of the issue prior to the Nov. 6 election.

David Nolan, director of parks and recreation, informed the board members he spoke at a meeting of the Golden Agers Circle Club, attended by approximately 40 people. Also present were State Representative Sam Wolf, Alderman Everett Moreland and former Granite City mayor Leonard Davis.

"I think the group was supportive of the issue and with Wolf and Davis speaking in favor of the bond issue, the group seemed to understand the benefit of a new swimming pool in the community," Nolan said.

Park Commissioner Nancy Sanders spoke to the Firefighters' Union and the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce and also noted support from their members.

Other commitments included members of the Knights of Columbus and Granite City police officers who John "Jeff" Worthen contacted. He said the majority of the two groups are in favor of a new swimming pool and are pleased with its proposed location close to a parking lot and believe the new building will be an asset to the ice rink facility.

Randall Robertson, the park board attorney, addressed approximately 150 members of the American Association of Retired Persons, Chapter 1340, at the Granite City Township Hall.

He informed the park board members that the group was enthusiastic about the park district programs and seemed to be in favor of the new pool.

Park President George Sykes reviewed additional meetings that the park commissioners will address prior to election day.

Local Masons 'roast' Ed Lane

A testimonial dinner and roast was held recently at the Masonic Temple in Granite City, in honor of Edward Lane, 2121 Missouri Ave., a past master of Granite City Lodge #87.

The Worshipful Master of Granite City Lodge Charles Tucker welcomed everyone and after an opening prayer, dinner was served to approximately 175 guests.

The master of ceremonies for the evening was Norman R. Buckner, past worshipful past grand master of masons in Illinois who drove from Springfield, Ill., for the occasion. Other "roasters" included Glen Holmes, a past grand master from Cedar Falls, Iowa, Sam Page a past grand master from Danville, Ill., Harvey Stinson a past grand master from Dixon, Ill., Walter Bergfield from Decatur, Ill., John L. Wood of Granite City, and Charles E. Worthen of Belleville.

Also asked to speak was Chester A. Owings, M.E., past grand commander of Knights Templars of this state.

At the conclusion of the roast, Tucker presented Lane with a masonic apron which was greeted with much mirth, and then presented the honoree with a Masonic wall clock from himself and his wife Rose, and a Masonic pocket watch and chain from the officers and members of Granite City Lodge.

Lane then responded with a few "barbs" of his own, and introduced his family, including his mother, Mrs. Blanch Lane, mother-in-law,

Against Lancers Warriors atone for earlier loss; shut out East

By JOE THOMPSON
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The tone for the 4-0 drubbing the Granite City High soccer Warriors dished out to Belleville East Wednesday night at the Gauntlet might have been set a night earlier.

The Warrior volleyball squad was in Belleville for a match with East's Lancers. During the proceedings, the Warrior girls spotted some Lancer soccer players in the stands. They delivered this message to them:

"The soccer players are looking for you."

Let the record show, the Warrior players found their prey.

IT WAS payback time Wednesday night. A week earlier, the Lancers had defeated the Warriors, 4-3. It was the biggest victory in the history of the Belleville East soccer program. In the previous seven years the two schools had played, the Lancers not only had never beaten Granite City, but had never scored a goal.

You might say the Warriors settled a lot of scores this week. On Monday, the Warriors topped Belleville West, 2-0. It was a match the Warriors thoroughly dominated. Their previous meeting with Belleville West this season ended in a 1-1 tie.

WARRIOR coach Gene Baker downplayed any revenge aspect his players might have carried with them into Wednesday's contest. "I think they're pretty good sports," said Baker of his kickers, who finished their regular season with a mark of 10-4-3.

"They just wanted to show," he said, "we can play better ball than we did."

They did do that.

"There was a lot of difference between this time and last time," Baker said. "They showed a little bit what they could do."

Lancer coach Philip Aleman, whose squad dropped to 8-6-1, said he didn't spot any tactical changes by the Warriors. But there was a change.

"THEY JUST executed," Aleman said. "I think the maturity Coach Baker talked about last time somewhat arrived tonight."

The Warriors, who sported new jerseys, launched 18 shots at the Lancers goal — 13 of them in the lower East. The Warriors' domination was also evident in corner kicks, where Granite City forced six to the Lancers' 1.

The Warriors' first two corner kicks proved deadly. Both ended with the ball in the back of the Belleville East net.

On the first goal, Scott Grote ripped a shot past Lancer netminder Steve Korobey, capitalizing on a shot by Mike Houston which Korobey was unable to settle. The score came one minute and 26 seconds into the match.

DAVE BAGGETTE, soaring into the air, headed in the Warriors' second goal less than seven minutes later off a corner kick cross. Greg Gobbie was credited with an assist.

Scott Blason took both corner kicks.

It was, however, with 28 seconds left to play in the second quarter when it was obvious the Warriors would settle their week-long score. It was then that a sliding Baggette rifled a shot into the lower right part of the goal, the Warriors' third score.

Just as quickly came a (battle) cry from a Warrior player: "Don't let down."

THEY DIDN'T. Mike Dennis left-footed a booming drive into the lower right corner of the net with less than nine minutes remaining in the match.

The accolades were many. Baker said he thought Baggette played a "fantastic" match. Besides his two goals, Baggette nearly accounted for another. The Lancers' Rich Lockwood, making like Kirk Gibson, batted away a cross by Baggette that appeared as if it might end up in the nets.

The Warriors were awarded a penalty kick for Lockwood's hand ball, but Houston booted it over the goal.

GROBLE and Blason were also singled out by Baker for their fine play.

Allen Zentgraf was in goal for the Warriors. A senior, it was his first varsity start of his career. The Warrior defense made his work easy. He was called on to make just one save.

"The defense played a heckuva game," said Zentgraf.

Still, Zentgraf did find himself involved in what was the biggest controversy of the match. In taking a goal kick late into the second quarter, he kicked the Lancers' Rob Nabb. One official called for a penalty kick. The other official overruled, and awarded Zentgraf another goal kick.

"AS SOON as I dropped the ball, he (Nabb) jumped in front of me," said Zentgraf, noting the second call was correct.

Needless to say, after hearing of the message the Warrior volleyball girls relayed to his players, Aleman probably swallowed hard.

"That makes a coach worry," he said.

Needless to say, the Lancers didn't run scared. "I think they thought they could do pretty much as they pleased," said Aleman, who noted his kickers were still "up" from their victory last week. "But there was no way we could do more than we did last week."

Aleman also pointed out, "When you say something, you'd better back it up."

Warriors, 2V West 0

The Warriors peppered the Maroon goal with 19 shots, and forced nine corner kicks. The Maroons, in turn, managed just six shots.

"Statistics speak for themselves," said Baker. "I felt there was quite a bit of domination... I'm rather satisfied with the win."

Mike Houston scored the first goal. He was assisted by Frank Seelbach. Greg Gobbie scored the second goal off a corner kick from

BALL CONTROL. Granite City's Dave Baggette, 11, battles Belleville East's Daren Koester, 6, and Brett Bullock, 14, for control of the ball during the third quarter of Wednesday night's Southwestern Conference soccer game. Baggette may have lost the battle for possession, but the senior Warrior scored two goals to lead the Warriors to a 4-0 victory.

Scott Blason. MATCH POINTS: The Warriors not only played sharp Wednesday, they looked sharp. Their new outfits consisted of white tops and black pants, with red and white trim around the collar of the shirts.

"They're good looking. Aren't they?" said Baker, who went all the way back to medieval times to explain why he outfitted his team in new uniforms.

"Confucius say, 'outward form means inner grace,'" Baker quoted.

For Gridiron Warriors Homecoming: A test of discipline?

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — Homecoming. Just a mere mention of the word will invoke thoughts of high school and college days. Some of the best times of growing up. Football games, dances, plays and pep rallies, they're all part of Homecoming.

On Friday, Granite City High School's student body will conduct a football pep rally for the game which is scheduled for later that evening in recently renovated Memorial Stadium.

For the Warriors, who will meet old rival and former Gateway East Conference member Cahokia, it truly will be a homecoming. Thanks to the GCIS Booster Club and some local business people, they will be coming home to a stadium which hasn't looked that good in several years.

BUT AS much as members of the football team appreciate the stadium's facelift, it's really the least of their concerns, as Coach Ron Yates pointed out Wednesday.

"We really appreciate the work that everyone has done to get the stadium ready for Friday's game, but we can't dwell on the stadium and the homecoming. We've got to think football this week," Yates said.

"Homecoming can be a big boost, but live also see it work in reverse. There's so much hoopla — dances, bonfires and everything — that, quite honestly, it's tough to get the kids to concentrate on football."

WARRIOR team captain Chris Luffman echoed Yates' comments.

"I see homecoming two ways," Luffman said Wednesday. "It can be for us and against us. It's for us because of the obvious pep rallies and things. But, too, it can take away a lot of time from practice. We've got two guys on the homecoming court, which is great for them, but it makes practicing tough."

"We've got to be careful that we don't get too caught up in the homecoming thing that we don't think football," Luffman said.

"Coach told us that three-quarters of all teams lose their homecomings because of all the extra activities which can interfere with practices if players let them. We're trying to keep that from happening."

OBVIOUSLY, Yates and Luffman are not searching to do away with homecomings, they're just looking at the week-long festivities as football coach and a team leader.

"Sure, I guess you can call this a crucial game for us. We forfeited our first two, lost a scrimmage to East Side and then we beat Collinsville. But since then we lost two more, one to Edwardsville and another to Althoff. We're still looking for a good game, one that we'll do more giving than receiving," Yates said.

"Giving more than they've been receiving," is just what Yates and defensive coach Bob Stegemeyer have been working on this week.

"WE'VE just got to be more physical than we've been," Yates said. "Our job this week has been to try and increase their intensity, and I don't mean the same way we've got to hit harder and be able to stop the run up the middle."

Yates' concern for stopping the run up the middle is genuine when considering Cahokia's offense.

Thus far, the Comanche offense has averaged 300 yards of offense a game, is strictly a running team. As Cahokia coach Larry Taylor put it, "our passing game is almost null and void. We're going to run right at them."

CAHOKIA, which is 2-4 this season, is one of the more powerful teams offensively. It's the Comanche defense which has been suspect.

Led by the speedy fullback Alonzo Washington, the Comanche backfield will be the swiftest (excluding East St. Louis of course) that the Warriors have seen all season. Washington was virtually unstoppable last year as he scampered for 137 yards and two touchdowns against the Warriors.

Supporting Washington in the backfield is fullback Charlie Williams, a 5-10, 165 pound senior, and Larry Taylor, a 5-8, 160 pound senior halfback. Taylor, incidentally, is the eldest son of Coach Taylor.

CALLING the signals in the Comanche backfield will be Pat Hill, a 5-11, 155-pound senior quarterback who Taylor calls a "running quarterback."

Defensively, the Comanches will show the Warriors a five-man line, the old 52 defensive formation.

As for the Warriors, who are now 1-5 on the season, Yates says he will employ a running game against the Comanches. If the running game fails as it did last week in the Mud Bowl against Althoff, Yates said the Warriors will increase its passing game.

"This week, we're looking to polish our game for Friday. We're going to work on our running game. If we can shove the ball down their throat like we did against Collinsville we won't need to go to a passing game. But if that fails, we'll go to the air."

A Three-Way SWC Tie? Regionals begin on Saturday

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — With Granite City's 4-0 shutout victory over Belleville East Wednesday night, the soccer Warriors enter this weekend's regional tournament with a 10-4-3 record.

As the Warriors picked up their fourth Southwestern Conference victory of the season to just one loss in eight league contests Wednesday, the Warriors appear to have garnered a tie for the SWC honors.

Granite City is 4-1-3 in the SWC, while Alton and Collinsville are each 5-2-1 in the league. The Kahoks earned the tie last night by knocking off the Redbirds 4-3 in overtime.

ASSUMING the SWC awards two conference points for a win and one for a tie, each team — Granite City, Alton, and Collinsville — have 11 points. Although, league officials have yet to make a ruling on the apparent three-way tie.

When asked Wednesday night about the SWC situation, Warrior coach Gene Baker said he thought the Warriors were out of the running for the title. But what Baker didn't know was that Collinsville was in the process of upsetting league-leading Alton.

"I think we're out of it at this point. Our main concern is getting ready for the regional tournament, Baker said.

ALTHOUGH Baker said his team may not necessarily be ready for the annual post-season tournament, it is relishing the competition it will face, and the mere presence of competing in the regional.

"This is our time of the year," Baker said. "This is the part of the season that we work — prepare ourselves teams — for. From the first day of practice we were preparing for this."

The Warrior coach said last week after his team's loss to East, that "there's still some maturing to be done." Last night, the Warriors went into the match with a winning maturity, but, as Baker put it, the Warriors are still lacking the social aspect of the game, their social maturity.

"WE'RE making progress towards our maturing process, but we're still not there yet," Baker said. "I stress these things: physical, mental and social commitment to the team. We're lacking in the social aspect of our game, but what we lack there we're going to make up in other areas."

Specifically, Baker said, "we're going to be ultra-fit. We're going into the game better conditioned than we've been before."

"That and we're going to deal with the little things. We'd like to be more fluid in our execution," Baker said.

Explaining what he meant by "the little things," Baker said it was the "basics plus." "I'm looking for more spontaneous reaction from them," Baker said. "We want to be totally prepared for the regional. And, to do it we expect to get in as many as 15 hours of practice before our first game."

IN ALL, there are 197 schools, plus the Chicago Public High League, in this year's post-season soccer tournament. There are 28 regionals and seven sectional tournaments.

The Warriors, the top seed in one of four regionals in the Granite City High School Section, will play on Monday at 7 p.m. Given a bye in the first round, the Warriors will play the winner of the Metro-East Lutheran vs. Madison game which will be played Saturday at Metro-East's field in Edwardsville.

MSL grabbed fourth seed in the regional while the Trojans received fifth seed.

THE OTHER first-round game will consist of third-seeded Cahokia and second-seeded Edwardsville. That game, which will also be played on Monday, will be played at Edwardsville, the higher seed.

The regional championship game will be played next Thursday, Oct. 25, at the highest seed's home field. Assuming the Warriors are still in the tournament, GCIS Athletic Director Greg Patton has stated the game will be played at the Gauntlet at 7 p.m.

The sectional tournament, which will be at the Gauntlet whether or not the Warriors are still in the tournament, will begin at 5 p.m. next Saturday, Oct. 27. The sectional championship game is slated for Tuesday, Oct. 30, at 7 p.m.

The sectional tournament was originally scheduled to be played at Cougar Field, but because of a scheduling conflict, will be played in its entirety at the Gauntlet.

In Soccer This Weekend SIUE seeks to improve .500 tally

EDWARDSVILLE — The soccer Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be trying to climb over the .500 mark and make a final run at a berth in the NCAA Division I National Tournament this weekend as they hit the road for games in Milwaukee, Wis. and Chicago.

The Cougars, who split two games last weekend to push their record to 5-3, will face off against the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee Saturday at 1 p.m., before moving south to Chicago for a 2 p.m. match Sunday against the University of Illinois-Chicago.

Saturday's match, against Wisconsin-Milwaukee, will mark the 11th meeting of these two teams, with the Cougars holding an 8-2 series advantage. Last year, the Cougars' game against the Panthers was washed out by rain. In their last meeting SIUE pushed in two second-half goals to pull off a come-from-behind 2-1 victory in Milwaukee.

Against Illinois-Chicago, the Cougars will be hoping to extend their undefeated streak to 17 games. In their previous 16 meetings, the Cougars have posted a 15-1 record, including a 4-0 shutout at Cougar Field last season in a game that included a goal and an assist by Bill Stallings. Last year's game also included seven yellow cards and three red cards.

Last weekend, the Cougars rebounded from a heart-breaking 2-0 loss to the University of Missouri-St. Louis, Friday to defeat Creighton University, 3-1, Sunday. Against the Rivermen, SIUE ran into a hot goalkeeper in John Stahl, who made 16 saves and recorded the first shutout of the year against the Cougars.

Following their northern trip, the Cougars return to the St. Louis area and begin preparation for the 14th Annual Bronze Boot game in Busch Memorial Stadium.

Summers a prophet on World Series matchup?

The sports world is full of predictions. Some amazingly accurate, while others blaringly inaccurate. Frequently, the athletes being quoted make their predictions in the midst of a heated, emotional time — as their team pursues a Super Bowl championship or a World Series title.

Such statements made during post-season play — a time when athletes may not always speak with the clearest conscience and reasoning — always seem to be followed up by the media afterwards. Just to see how accurate the "stars of the game" were in their predictions.

More often than not, the athlete's excitement and enthusiasm in their prediction reflects the outcome of a game the way they want it to be played — in their favor. And these, "bad predictions" as they are referred, are as commonplace as wishful thinking in a crap game.

One such "bad prediction" was made by one of the most respected men to play professional football: Fran Tarkenton, Minnesota Vikings quarterback, prior to the 1976 Super Bowl.

"We want the whole world to know this time we're going to win the Super Bowl."

Tarkenton made the statement late in 1976. The Vikings had lost in three previous Super Bowl bids, and despite Tarkenton's assurances, made it four.

straight against Oakland, losing 32-14.

But not all sports quotations made on the verge of a championship game are inaccurate. Many are mysteriously accurate. One such prediction was made by "Broadway" Joe Namath before the 1969 Super Bowl.

"And we're going to win Sunday — I'll guarantee it."

Namath proved as accurate in his prophecy as in his passing, despite the fact that Jimmy the Greek had made the Colts 16-point favorites.

Another recent prediction, one which was called to the tee, was that of John J. "Champ" Summers, former Madison High School standout and a pinch-hitter with World Series runner-up San Diego Padres.

Summers was in St. Louis in July for a three-game Padres-Cardinals series. I caught up with the feisty Summers after the game in the Padre locker room where he made his prediction.

"I'm excited about Detroit, and I'm happy for them and the kind of season they're having. I hope they make it to the World Series. I want to play Detroit in the World Series. I wish that they would win the American League," Summers said on that July evening.

"They're (the Tigers) going that direction and so are we. It just so happens that now I'm on the other team," Summers said.

Sure, when Champ made his prediction, Detroit was already way out in front of the American League East, and San Diego was eight games in front of the National League West, but a lot of things could've happened in the two and a half months that remained in the season. Just ask the Cubbies.

Summers, who played in Detroit during the '79, '80 and '81 seasons, had very strong feelings for Detroit. He called his tenure with the Tigers, "his best years."

"Detroit's fans are great," he said. Now a member of the Padres, Summers still thought enough of Detroit to wish them well. "They (the Tigers) be there and so will we," Summers said predicting the World Series matchup.

When asked who would win his predicted Series, Summers paused and instead offered another prediction, that of Detroit's manager Sparky Anderson.

"I like Sparky and wish him and his team well. In fact, he (Anderson) predicted in 1979 — in five years — that Detroit would be in the World Series. He said that, and I heard him say that," Summers said.

Then he offered a hint of what may be the result of his predicted Series.

"If we're going to be there and Detroit's going to there I wish Sparky Anderson was on our side. Nothing against Dick Williams, but Sparky's truly one of baseball's best."

Summers also proved to be one of baseball's best, but in another way — that of predictions.

Girls win Mascoutah Invit'l

By ADAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

MASCOUTAH — Last year, Granite City High School's girls cross country team became the first team to win the Mascoutah Invitational Cross Country Meet, Tuesday afternoon, the Warriors continued to monopolize on that title as they ran roughshod over the five other teams to clinch the title once again.

The Warrior girls proved their supremacy as they finished first with 36 points, half as much as second-place O'Fallon which finished with 72.

For Granite City, consistency once again proved to be its namesake. The Warriors, who were not able to push the first runner across the finish line, did manage to finish four girls in the top 10: Lora Wiser, first; Melody Witt, fifth; Michelle Shoemaker, seventh; and Sheila Noel, 10th.

"GRANITE City's a heckuva team," explained host coach Clyde Brasher. "Lora Wiser was unable to repeat as champion, but when any team finishes four girls in the top 10 they're pretty tough to beat."

Wiser, whose course record of 12:08 set last year still stands, finished the slightly modified course in 12:33 Tuesday, just five seconds behind the eventual winner Lucie Mays of Mt. Vernon.

The 45-second difference in Wiser's times from last year to this year baffled Warrior assistant coach Joe Haefner, especially since Wiser has been improving on her times. "It seems odd that Lora's times are off, but so are everyone else's. The obvious explanation is that the course is longer than the publicized two-miles," Haefner said. Haefner speculated that the times reflected a course of 2.1 miles.

Connie Harre-Blair, Mt. Vernon's coach, similarly thought that the time's reflected a longer course than two-miles.

"Lucie's been running two-mile courses better than she ran this one today," Coach Harre-Blair said of her first-place finisher. "But you can't compare cross country courses. Two miles here may be like two and a couple tenths somewhere else."

THEN Brasher, meet director, offered his explanation of the cause and effect of Tuesday's longer times.

"This is basically the same course that we ran last year, only the starting line is different. And what changes we made there were compensated at the finish line. This is a two-mile course," Brasher said.

"I've walked it with a wheel."

Instead, Brasher attributed the longer times to the weather and longer grass on the course path.

"The course is very damp and the grass along the parts of the course where there is grass is very long. And, to make matters worse, the asphalt was wet and slippery, which will add a little time their totals. Couple those three factors along with wind gusts of 35 miles per hour and that will slow anybody down."

Trojanette Volleyball 'Substituting' Trojan spikers defeated by Marquette in two

By CHARLIE SKAER
of the Press-Record

MADISON — If the Madison Trojanettes had earned a point for each substitution Tuesday night, they would likely have defeated the visiting Alton Marquette team.

But while the Trojanettes were shuffling back and forth from the bench, Marquette took 16-14 and 15-11 victories to win the match.

Madison coach Carol Cole made 16 substitutions during the contest, of which came in the final game. In comparison, Marquette coach Suzer Phelps made four substitutions during the night.

The reason for the high amount of substitutions was two-fold, according to Cole. First, Tuesday's match was the final regular game of the season for Madison. Cole said she wanted to make sure each member played.

BUT, more importantly, the substitutions ended Cole's season-long search for the right combination of players.

"I have some girls who play well in the front," said Cole. "I have some in the back. But I have few who can play well in both spots."

"I think we found the right combination tonight. Or at least it's as good a combination as there's going to be."

Madison had a chance to win the first game with the score at 14-14. But substitute Kim Crowder served the ball short and Marquette capitalized with two solid serves from Teresa Jones.

CROWDER wasn't alone. Sixteen of Madison's serves were long, wide or in the net.

"Kim is usually a good server," said Cole. "I guess it was just nerves."

But serving problems have been the story of our life. There's too much inconsistency. That's why you see most of the girls serving underhanded."

In the second game, Marquette jumped out to a 7-1 lead with the majority of those points coming from power serves by Lisa Schmittling. Madison battled back, but couldn't gain the lead.

THE LOSS to Marquette dropped Madison to 4-13 for the season, while Marquette improved to 10-11. Because the Trojans had no returning starters from last year's squad, Cole said coaching this year's squad was different than those of the past.

"It's hard enough teaching the skills during this amount of time, let alone all the strategy," said Cole. "We never did get polished up. We still had some rough edges."

"There was just too much to do in too short a time. But if I had this bunch for two years, I think they could have turned into a winning team."

Despite the record, Cole said she's pleased with season and the way the girls progressed.

"THEY said after the game that they hadn't won many, but they knew they were playing better," said Cole. "We have a rough schedule — we don't play any scrub teams."

The Trojans will face Mater Dei in the Brees Central Regional, which begins Oct. 24. Mater Dei is seeded second in the tournament, while Central is the top seed.

Final racing Friday

Tri-City Speedway will hold its final race night Friday, Oct. 19, for the 1984 racing season.

There will be a 50-lap feature event for the modified cars on the one-half mile dirt track with $1,000 going to the winner and $500 to the winner of the Sportsman's Car feature event. Also on hand will be the Street Stock cars. Many cars are expected to be on hand for the big money feature wins.

Gates open at 5 p.m., with racing starting at approximately 7:30 p.m. This will be slated as the 1984 Modified Nationals that has been called off for the past two weekends, due to heavy rains.

Warrior Volleyball 'Best performance' lifts GCHS

BY PAULA WISE
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — In their best played match of the season, the Granite City High School volleyball team defeated Highland Monday 15-1, 9-15, 15-12, 15-9.

But later in the week, the Warriors good fortune turned to misfortune as they dropped matches to Belleville East on Tuesday and East St. Louis on Wednesday. Against the Lancers, the Warriors lost 1-15, and 9-15. Last night, against the Flyers, the local squad dropped the first and third matches, losing 3-15, 15-11 and 12-15.

"The first game was almost flawless. It just gives me butterflies to see them play so well," said Warrior coach Wilma Schulze of Monday's game with Highland.

"I think at the beginning of the season we thought we should have at least as good a team as last year since we had four girls coming back. Then as the season got started they started having their doubts. Now their confidence is starting to come back and they're playing better," Coach Schulze added.

"THEY all played well. Debbie (Brandt) had a beautiful defensive game. She dug out several of Highland's tall girls' (6-foot 3-inch Cathy Kampwerth) spikes.

"Tammy (Jones) did a good job of blocking. She was really anticipating at the net tonight," the Granite City coach said.

The Warriors got to the Lady Bulldogs early in the first game of the match, Granite City put together 15 straight points to take an easy victory.

Eleven of the Warrior points in the first game came off the serving arm of Brandt. Three of those points were service aces.

"HIGHLAND didn't play as well as I thought they would," said Coach Schulze. "I think their coach was also a little disappointed in their play."

The Lady Bulldogs turned things around in the second game of the match. After taking a large lead at the beginning of the game, Highland held on despite a Warrior comeback to win the game.

Granite City pulled to a quick 5-0 lead in the third game before Highland scored four straight points to get within one. Capitalizing on strong net play, the Warriors scored eight points to put the game out of reach 13-4.

LED BY the strong spiking of Kampwerth, the Lady Bulldogs put five points on the board before the Warriors could manage to score again making the score 14-9. Three more points put pressure on the Warriors, but an illegal hit call against Highland gave Granite City the victory.

The Lady Bulldogs looked as if they were going to even the match at two games apiece in the early going of the fourth game. Highland held leads of 4-1 and 6-2 before the Warriors could mount a rally.

Granite City was finally able to tie the game when a bad pass by Highland set Jones up for a spike from her center-hitting position. That spike appeared to give the Warriors the momentum as they went on to take the game and the match.

THE WARRIORS' passing game, which had been troublesome to them in the past, proved to be one of their strong points in Monday's game.

"I think they are just starting to realize the importance of passing. We have been stressing it in practice and they are concentrating on it more," said Coach Schulze of her team's new found talent. "Good passing is a sign of a mature team."

"Right now we are having problems with consistency. We haven't been able to practice so we can't work on drills that will help us to improve," Miss Schulze added.

THE WARRIORS will have little time to practice this week as they finish out their regular season schedule.

Tonight, Granite City will travel to Roxana to take on the Shells in a 6:30 match.

The Warriors will finish up their schedule Saturday morning against the Edwardsville Tigers.

Banquet to honor Mendoza

When it comes to soccer in Granite City, there are few names which carry more weight than that of Ruben Mendoza.

Earlier this month, Mendoza was honored for his contributions to soccer by the St. Louis Soccer Club as he was inducted into its prestigious Hall of Fame.

Well, Mendoza has returned home and the honors will follow him. Scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 27, at 7 p.m., the Mexican Honorary Commission, a local organization which promotes amateur athletics, will honor their own as they host a banquet for Mendoza.

To be held at the MHC Hall located a 1801 Spruce St., the banquet is a tribute to Mendoza for his years of service to soccer and amateur athletics.

Tickets for the banquet, which includes dinner, drinks and entertainment, are $10 each and may be purchased at the MHC Hall or by calling either John Valencia at 797-6920 after 5 p.m. or Bob Galvin at 931-0372.

MAC hoop registration

The Mitchell Athletic Club has slated three dates for persons wishing to register for its winter youth basketball league.

The first is this Tuesday, Oct. 16, from 6 to 8 p.m., at the Mitchell Elementary School gymnasium. Other dates are the following Tuesdays, Sept. 23 and 30.

Persons seeking further information about the league may contact Myron Merz at 931-1218.

Major Leaguers Day Oct. 26

Baseball fans from the Metro-East area will get perhaps the best chance ever to honor their favorite Major League Stars of the past on Friday, Oct. 26, during Metro-East Major Leaguers' Day.

Slated for the Belle-Claire Fairgrounds' Exposition Hall, the event is expected to attract more than 40 baseball greats including Granite City's Dal Maxvill and Madison's Champ Summers.

Tickets for the event are $20 and may be obtained by calling Dan Underwood at 235-0438.

Church Activities

Madison County Baptist announcements

The Madison County Baptist Association, located at 620 Engineer Road, Mitchell, announces its board meeting will be conducted at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 22, at the Second Baptist Church, 2100 Illinois Ave.

This is the first meeting of the board of this fiscal year and each church is entitled to two board members to represent them on the board in addition to its pastor, according to Robert Stuckey, interim director.

The association also announced that C. B. Woodward of Granite City has resigned as MCBA Child Care representative, due to ill health. The local man has served in that capacity at the Baptist Children's Home in Carmi, Ill., for over 20 years.

During his years of work he has provided a Christian environment for homeless youth and served as a liaison between MCBA churches and the home, by keeping the churches aware of the needs of their children living there, the director explained.

Mr. Woodward is an active member of the Second Baptist Church.

Also, a Baptist senior adult group (55+ and older) known as "Saints Alive" met at the Baptist Center with 24 present at the covered dish luncheon.

During its session an election was held and Vera Ridgeway of Pleasant Ridge, was named president, Georgia Province, FBC Maryville, vice president, Neil McElroy, State Park, secretary-treasurer.

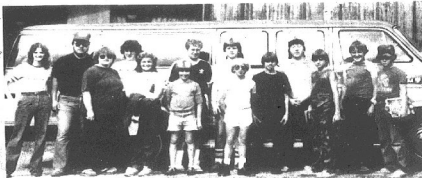

They planned an Ozark scenic tour for today and it will include various stops and a luncheon in Grand Tower, Ill.

A meeting on Oct. 25 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Third Baptist Church, 2601 Grand Ave., is scheduled for all WMU directors and leaders. They will have an opportunity to receive training in each age level from a state resource personnel, the director said.

The Baptist Fellowship Festival has planned a trip to Silver Dollar City on Oct. 26-27 and two seminars at noon on Saturday, Oct. 27.

This is in addition to the regular rides, shows and attractions at the Missouri park. Deadline reservations are set for Oct. 22.

The first seminar will be a special presentation for teens—peer pressure and its effects on their role in family life and the second one is set for 2 p.m. on Christian Family life—how to focus and maintain a Christ-centered family.

GOD'S CHOSEN PEOPLE, was the theme for a weekend retreat at Shannondale Church near Salem, Mo., attended by members of the junior high youth group from St. John United Church of Christ. From left are advisors and members, Sharon Garner, Ed Brandes, Donna Brandes, Tara Lipscomb, Cherie Karlos, Craig Labory, Chris Duckworth, Rob Rellake, Ron Trimmer, Mike Mueller, Jim Benzing, Eric Thornberry, Ervin Schoefer and Chad Lane.

YOUNG APPLE PICKERS, youngsters enrolled in St. Peter's Pre-School wait patiently for a wagon ride to the Eckerts apple orchard where they will pick sacks of the autumn fruit. The field trip was planned for the 21 students by Mrs. Sheila McCauley and Mrs. Lou Ann Hollis, teachers at the school located at 2100 Cleveland Blvd.

Lecture studies effect of alcoholism on adolescents

Persons who have adolescent children may wish to attend "Alcoholism/Chemical Dependency: Its Effects on Children and Adolescents," the third lecture in the series, "The ABC's of Growing Up," presented by St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The presentation will be given free of charge on Monday, Oct. 22, at 7 p.m. in Pascal Hall at SEMC.

Handout materials will be distributed to accompany the lectures. For example, the "Family Recovery Chart" illustrates the symptoms of a family affected by the alcoholism of a family member. The roles of family members in this situation will be discussed. The roles of self-help groups like Al-Anon and Alateen also will be discussed.

The second part of the presentation will focus on signs of chemical dependency in adolescents. Those attending will be given the "Nelson Chart," illustrating the types of behavior which indicate experimentation with drugs, abusive drinking and using, and actual chemical dependency.

In addition, everyone attending will be given a free drinking/driving wheel, used to estimate blood alcohol levels according to a person's weight and the amount of alcohol consumed.

Further information is available from Talbot Hall at 798-3069.

Uniwah dinner Saturday

The annual recognition dinner of Uniwah District, Chokoma Mound Boy Scouts of America, will take place at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 20, at the Chouteau Township Hall, it was announced today by Joe Gosney, Scouting executive.

The event is for those involved in Scouting within the Uniwah District, which encompasses the Quad-City area.

A buffet-style dinner will be served prior to the program. About 100 guests are expected to attend.

Awards and recognition will be accorded volunteers who have succeeded in bringing a quality program to the area's young people.

Gosney said.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Peter A. Carich, a psychotherapist, who maintains offices in Granite City and Belleville.

Involved in Scouting for a number of years, Dr. Carich previously was the recipient of the coveted Silver Beaver Award and the District Award of Merit. He served as a scoutmaster for 15 years and is Woodbadge-trained.

The program will conclude with the presentation of the 1984 District Award of Merit, the highest award given on a district level to a volunteer in the Boy Scouts of America, Gosney explained.

Good Shepherd Methodist plans bazaar

The Good Shepherd Methodist Church, 3025 National Ave., will host its annual bazaar on Saturday, Nov. 3, beginning at 9 a.m., the project chairman announced.

Dinner will be served from 11 a.m. through 7 p.m., with the cost of the tickets set at $4 for adults and $2 for children. The tickets will provide all one can eat if dining at the church. Carryout dinners also will be available for those who want to pick up dinners or a free delivery service is planned.

The menu includes turkey and dressing or ham, potatoes, two vegetables, cranberry sauce, slaw, bread, drink and dessert.

The craft committee has been working one night each week since the first of September making homemade items to sell at the bazaar as well as planning to sell homebaked pastry and cakes.

There is ample parking space at the church and the public is invited to attend the dinner and browse through the craft show, the chairman added.

Methodist women elect officers

Nameoki United Methodist Women met at the church last week for a monthly meeting and to elect new officers for the forthcoming year.

Mrs. Corinne Dawson opened the session at which time the nominating committee submitted its slate of candidates.

Those elected include: Dorothy Luckert, president; Dorothy Wallace, vice president; Luanne Miller, secretary; Helene Bischoff, treasurer; Alta Stewart and Millie Clement, missionary coordinators; Mrs. Dawson, membership; Mrs. Bryger and Betty Tester, representatives to Church Women United.

Mrs. Bischoff presented the program on pledge services and announced the four Sundays in November will be devoted to a mission study.

Others attending were Mary Bailey, Gladys Russell, Alma Cowan and Diane Baker.

Bazaar on Nov. 3 at First Presbyterian

Tables displaying a variety of gift and Christmas articles will be the highlight of the annual church holiday bazaar and luncheon of the First United Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue, according to co-chairmen, Barbara Landis and Louise Mull.

The project is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 3, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Tickets for the plate luncheon will cost $3.50 and may be purchased in advance at the door on the day of the affair.

Sisterhood re-elects all officers

The Dewey Avenue United Methodist Sisterhood, voted to re-elect all of their club officers at their October luncheon meeting.

Those officers re-elected include: Evelyn Thompson, president; Mary Davis, vice-president; Millie Sherman, secretary; Opal Davis, treasurer; and Mamie Wagner, flower fund officer.

Plans also were discussed for the Sisterhood's 55th Anniversary Banquet, which will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 9, at the Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church, 2136 Dewey Ave.

Yule Party plans also were finalized for the sisterhood. The event will be held at 11:30 a.m. on Dec. 14, at Ravennell's Restaurant.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Opal and Alma Davis and Elsie Byrd. The tables at the luncheon were decorated in a Halloween motif. The table prayer was offered by Tinnie Webb.

The honored sister at the meeting was Elsie Byrd, who is celebrating her birthday this month.

Presbyterian church plans potluck dinner

"God in Everyday Living" will be the theme of the Rev. Don P. Pierson's message during the 10:15 a.m. worship service Sunday at Nameoki Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road. The Sunday school classes begin at 9:15 a.m., and a Mission Festival potluck dinner is scheduled to begin at noon.

The Rev. Eric Chavez, the director of the Gateway East Ministry (GEMM), will share details of his East St. Louis ministry. The GEMM is funded by the Gittings-Lovejoy Presbytery, which includes Presbyterian congregations in the Metro-East area. The GEMM program is a self-help ministry, and last summer's job training program, one of several of its community outreach efforts, has been widely acclaimed.

A "People Helper" training event is slated at the 9 a.m. coffee and Bible study hour. The course will be led by Rev. Pierson. Those interested in creative, compassionate Christian living are urged to attend.

A "Pumpkin Patch" party will be provided for the children of the Sunday School, reports Judy Hankins. The children will meet at the church at 2 p.m. to visit a pumpkin farm and will return to the church to decorate the pumpkins. The decorated pumpkins will be used in the Mission Festival potluck dinner. "This is our alternative to the traditional Halloween Costume party," Mrs. Hankins explained.

The Quad-City Cluster of Presbyterian sponsors meetings of the junior and senior highs of the churches at 6 p.m. Sundays at the First Presbyterian Church. "The pooling of our leadership resources, as well as our young people, is resulting in a very effective ministry to junior and senior highs," Rev. Pierson stated.

"Friends of both groups or those wishing a church home are welcome."

The 15-year-old talented vocalist will sing two solos, "Bless the Beasts and the Children" and "Holy One."

The daughter of Mrs. Bobbie Booker, 1638 Market St., Madison, Ginger is a sophomore at Marquette High School in Alton.

The local television committee also has accepted an invitation to appear in a Nov. 3 benefit performance at the Palace Theatre at Six Flags Over Mid-America theme park at Pacific, Mo.

The variety show will be a fund-raising benefit to aid the Muscular Dystrophy and Cystic Fibrosis funds. It was learned.

Ginger was featured on a CBS television network "KidsWorld" special on Sept. 1. The show was telecast over KMOX-TV, St. Louis.

Explorers selling 'trick-or-treat' gum

Explorer Post 10-4's annual "Trick or Treat" bubble gum sale begins today. The local Explorer Scouts are selling bags of individually wrapped bubble gum for $3, with each bag containing 240 pieces.

"This is an ideal way to keep kids happy and easy on parents and friends," Gary Marsala, the youth group advisor, said.

Proceeds from the event go to help the Explorers in their activities, as the local group is self-sustaining.

Members of the Law Enforcement Explorers also will be assisting the Madison police on Halloween to insure a safe time for all the children in Madison while trick-or-treating.

The annual Halloween adventure of trick-or-treating will be limited to Halloween night, Oct. 31, from 6 until 9 p.m. Parents are being asked to be with the children and restrict their activities to each child's neighborhood.

Philippians 4:11 "...I have learned, in whatever state I am, there will be contentment."

The Apostle Paul is telling us several things here in a very few words. First he says he has learned. God's way with us is a teaching way. He will teach us love, patience, gentleness, etc. When we do not learn from our first lesson, God will keep on teaching until we do learn. Do not become discouraged when life isn't perfect. God is teaching you to trust him.

Godliness with contentment is great gain. Understand that many people who go to church and worship regularly are not contented with their lives. We must LEARN to be content.

Remember, that God is in control. He loves you. He gives his peace to you. He will never leave nor forsake you. Believe that and you have contentment in your soul.

Today.

The conductor escorted Angie Buehler to the altar, where Mrs. Hagnauer presented her with a plaque from the auxiliary honoring her for being installed as an Illinois State Auxiliary Trustee for the 1984-85 year.

Plans were discussed for the upcoming visit of B.J. Sims, Grand Worthy Eagles President-Elect, of Odessa, Texas. He visited the Eagles Home Oct. 10.

A report was given by Mrs. Buehler, Mrs. Lipchik and Vincenza Zerlan on the recent District 7 meeting, which was hosted by Alton Auxiliary 254. The next District 7 meeting will be in Collinsville on Nov. 25.

Treasurer June Fritz gave her financial report, and the attendance prize was received by Mary McCall, while the white elephant prize donated by Bonnie Jacobs, was won by Mrs. Hill.

Refreshments were served by hostesses Mrs. Hagnauer, Mrs. Zerlan and Kathy Benda.

FORGED SIGNATURE

A forged signature was used to cash a U.S. Treasury Department income tax refund check for $1,933, it was reported during the weekend by Terry Schofield of the 1900 Lynn Avenue, who said he had never seen the mailed check.

Madison County Federal promotes 3

Paul F. Sodko, President of Madison County Federal Savings and Loan, has announced the promotion of three employees to assistant vice presidents. The three, Linda Manis, Dana Fair and Joyce Corey, are all residents of Granite City.

Linda Manis joined Madison County Federal in 1974 as a teller. She became a savings counselor in 1978 and new accounts supervisor in the Granite City office in 1979. She became an assistant secretary of the firm in 1982. She will be in charge of the savings division for the $115 million institution that has offices in Collinsville, Troy and Ginger Creek, in addition to Granite City.

Dana Fair will be in charge of operations for the association. She was a teller in 1976 when she began her career with Madison County Federal, became head teller in 1980, and was named assistant treasurer in 1982. Most recently, she headed the bookkeeping department.

Joyce Corey also began as a teller.

In addition to service in the bookkeeping department and the loan department, she worked in the Glen Carbon office for several years. She joined Madison County Federal in 1958 and will manage the firm's new branch in Ginger Creek.

"We are pleased to reward these three individuals for their years of dedicated service. We know they will continue to provide our customers with the high quality service which has always marked their performance," said Sodko.

Break ground for auto dealership

Groundbreaking ceremonies have been held for a new 13,300-square-foot facility for Laura Buick in Collinsville. The new dealership, Laura Buick-Pontiac-GMC, Inc., will be located on Route 157 in Collinsville. The former building, which was located on East Main Street, was destroyed by a fire on Aug. 10.

Ralph Korte Construction Co., Inc., of St. Louis and Highland, Ill., was awarded the general construction contract for the project, with Ralph Korte Architectural Services providing the design. The project is expected to be completed in December.

The Varco-Pruden pre-engineered building will feature an office, showroom, and sales area. It also will include a service area with 15 bays, six with hoists. The service area has four offices, a restroom area, tool room and parts department.

The parking lot has the capability of parking approximately 260 cars.

Funds appropriated for Jefferson park expansion in Ill.

Congress has approved $75,000 for the expansion of the Jefferson Memorial in East St. Louis and $250,000 for the Illinois and Michigan Canal National Heritage Corridor.

The Jefferson National Memorial Expansion project bill provides for a 20-member commission made up of local, state and federal officials to study the expansion of the St. Louis riverfront park to the East St. Louis side. The secretary of the interior will be authorized to acquire 100 acres of land for the expansion into Illinois and to construct a visitors' center there.

"The expansion of the park will help beautify the historic riverfront of East St. Louis," according to U.S. Senator Charles Percy (R-Ill.). It also will be, "as with the I&M Canal, a boost for the economy, as well as the aesthetics, of Illinois," Percy said.

The I&M Canal bill establishes a 19-member federal commission to oversee the preservation of natural areas and historic sites and develop a recreational trail along the canal.

Venice limiting free trips to residents of the city

At last week's meeting of the Venice City Council, approval was granted for transportation expenses for a Venice senior citizens' group, which requested a bus for applying trip to Grafton. Permission was given with the stipulation that those in charge submit a list of seniors planning to attend.

Mayor Tyrone Echols then repeated a previous statement that those making bus trips at city expense must be residents of Venice. Non-Venice residents wishing to go must pay, he reiterated.

Questioned about persons living in Eagle Park Acres, the mayor responded, "That decision was made five weeks ago that anyone not living in Venice, we are not paying for."

"But some people think they live in Venice," Percy guest, a senior group officer, commented. The mayor responded emphatically, "No, they (Eagle Park residents) live in Venice Township and Mr. Pashoff (Christ Pashoff, Venice Township supervisor) is the one to see."

Mayor Echols also commented that he is making inquiries in the Zip Code situation, as it pertains to sales taxes.

"People spend money and, particularly those living in North Venice, the sales tax is paid to the city of Madison, not the city of Venice. This is costing us a lot of money," he said.

Most residents in the North Venice area live within the city limits of Venice, but have a Madison postal address and Zip Code.

TWO PEOPLE HURT AT MARYVILLE-BUENGER

An accident on Maryville Road at Buenger Boulevard early this week resulted in injuries to Dena Pierce, 1740 Olive St., and Tara Pierce, 6 years old, of the same address.

Mrs. Pierce, 34, was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. She was a passenger in an auto driven by Terrance E. Pierce, 38, of 1740 Olive St., which was involved in a collision with a van operated by Howard G. Pashedag, 58, of 2949 O'Hare Ave.

CHARGE YOUTH WITH CONDUCT AND CURFEW

Called to a disturbance at a home in the 3700 block of Roosevelt Avenue during the weekend, police learned the homeowner wanted two youths to leave.

While escorting the pair outside one man allegedly pulled away from an officer and started yelling. Arrested and charged with disorderly conduct and curfew violation was John A. Powers, 17, of 2212 Illinois Ave.

POWERS RELEASED UPON POSTING $500 CASH BOND, PENDING A HEARING.

BURGLARY ATTEMPT MIFFED. Judy Reidelberger of 1240 Klein St., Venice, told police last week that when she drove up in her home's driveway earlier that day, she observed a black man standing on the side of her home. She questioned the man and he said he was looking for an electrician. The man then fled the scene. On closer inspection, Mrs. Reidelberger discovered that the front door had been kicked in, but nothing has been taken, to her knowledge.

MAN CHARGED WITH RECKLESS DRIVING

Rich T. Fleetwood, 26, of 1636 Olive St., was charged with reckless driving and fleeing to elude police last week by Venice Police. Fleetwood was allegedly observed by police on Broadway at Lincoln Avenue, Venice, driving at a high rate of speed and crossing the center lane at one point.

Police tried to pull Fleetwood's vehicle over, but Fleetwood allegedly increased this vehicle's speed. Fleetwood was finally apprehended at 1700 Spruce St. By Granite City police. He was released on $202 cash and posted his driver's license.

WOMAN'S PURSE TAKEN

Phyllis Catterson of 2341 August St., told police last week that her purse was taken from American Legion Post 307 at 740 Broadway, Venice. The purse contained $220 in cash, a checkbook, car keys, four un-filled prescription slips and various other cards.

Before you replace your existing heating system, check out an electric heat pump

If you are considering replacing your existing heating system, consider this: an electric heat pump is over 150% energy efficient and provides both heating and air conditioning.

An electric heat pump delivers substantially more energy efficiency than even the most advanced pulse type gas furnaces.

In cold weather the heat pump gathers natural warmth from outdoor air, concentrates it and circulates it throughout your home. During the summer, the heat pumps acts like a central air conditioning system to cool the entire house.

An energy efficient electric heat pump will keep on providing savings on your utility bill, month after month, year in and year out.

CONG. MELVIN PRICE

ROBERT GAFFNER

Rematch of Cong. Price and Gaffner

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Republican Robert H. Gaffner ran against 40-year Congressman Melvin Price in the previous election and will try it again Nov. 6.

Gaffner, 52, Greenville, who is the St. Louis Community College District community relations director, is campaigning actively for the 21st District Congressional seat. He won a four-way primary race in March.

Price, 78, victor in a three-way Democratic primary election this year, has served continuously since he was a World War II Army corporal in 1944.

THE TWO-YEAR TERM Price is favored to win next month would be his 21st. Although Gaffner has garnered considerable backing, the district remains mostly Democratic and also found of the legislator, who heads the Armed Services Committee.

Citing Price's age, St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello, 34, jumped into the Democratic primary maneuvering a year ago, claiming he had lined up massive party and labor support to run for Congress. But when Price declined to retire, Costello decided to hide his time, and withdrew from consideration.

Costello sought to capitalize on assumptions that the incumbent is too ill and feeble to serve. Price disagrees, saying he feels good and believes he is still effectively representing Madison and St. Clair counties and the surrounding area.

CRITICS SAY he spends too much time traveling at government expense, but the congressman says it is important that he have first-hand knowledge of what is happening not only in his district but around the world, including China, which he recently toured.

Those "waiting in the wings" to succeed him may include Costello, Illinois House Majority Leader Jim McPike, State Senator Sam Vadalabene, East St. Louis Mayor Carl Officer and other potential candidates.

Meanwhile, Gaffner is not waiting, but he apparently faces an uphill fight next month. He admittedly trails in name recognition among voters.

GAFFNER RECEIVED more than a third of the votes in November 1982 and hopes to build on that base toward a majority.

Along with directing community relations for the congressional district, he is its chief legislative liaison, involving lobbying visits to Jefferson City and Washington. He has experience as an Illinois community college trustee.

Gaffner served on the Greenville City Council from 1959 to 1971. He holds degrees from Greenville College and did graduate study at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

HE IS ACTIVE in church programs. He and his wife have two grown children. His honors have included election as president of the national Council for the Advancement and Support of Education and president of the Missouri Council of Public Higher Education.

Former chairman of the House Ethics Committee and former chairman of the Joint House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee, Price is at the summit of seniority and influence in the nation's capital and Capitol.

Before his wartime service, the East St. Louis was a newspaper sports writer and editor and then, for 10 years, a Congressional aide. He is married and has one son.

Active on armed services issues since his first term, he currently not only leads that committee but heads its research and development subcommittee. He serves on the subcommittee on seapower and strategic and critical materials.

HIS LEGISLATIVE interests have included families' economic security, energy development, environmental and flood control, occupational safety, Social Security, urban affairs, education, health and tax reform.

He fights for "a national defense program that combines minimum waste and maximum efficiency, with better utilization and training of personnel. He has praised the 1980s buildup of European nations' defense preparedness.

Cong. Price was one of the first to work for restoration of American air power after the postwar decline.

HE PUSHED for development of nuclear energy, warning in the pre-Sputnik era that Soviet aggression called for "constant vigilance and determination to maintain U.S. scientific and military leadership."

Price was an active supporter of the first nuclear submarine as well as nuclear-powered aircraft, intercontinental ballistic missiles and the distant early warning system. He also has been active in the field of international relations as it pertains to U.S. defense.

The veteran legislator spearheaded modernization of America's airlift fleet and expansion of its airlift capabilities, including improvement of reserve forces.

Physical Plant personnel and architectural and engineering consultants are evaluating the situation to determine the best course of action on the future of the building.

Barbara Teters, vice president and provost, said the master of fine arts sculpture classes and departmental faculty and staff offices have been moved to Building 197 in the Wagner Complex. Fiber and fabric and drawing and painting classes are unaffected. Students in jewelry and photography classes are urged

Dixon & Donnewald to host a campaign reception for Allen

U.S. Senator Alan J. Dixon and Illinois State Treasurer James H. Donnewald will co-host a reception and rally for Dick Allen, Democratic candidate for Madison County state attorney, Tuesday, Oct. 23.

The reception is designed to raise funds for the final leg of Allen's race to try and unseat incumbent Republican State's Attorney Don Weber.

"Even though many voters are unhappy with the present state's attorney and, in spite of the traditional lopsided vote in favor of Democratic candidates in our county, this is a tough race by virtue of my opponent's incumbency. For that reason, this demonstration of support from such high-level party stalwarts as Sen. Dixon and Treasurer Donnewald is much appreciated," Allen said.

"I feel certain that those who are able to attend will enjoy this opportunity to meet their Democratic U.S. senator and our distinguished state treasurer. I also will look forward to meeting those in attendance," Allen added.

The reception will be at the Collinsville Hilton Inn, Route 157 and Interstate 55-70 in Collinsville, and catered by "The Black Swan." Hours are 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tickets for the event are $75 for the admission of two persons and may be obtained by contacting Allen's law office in Granite City at 877-4445, or by contacting Mac Warfield, the Madison County Democratic Central Committee chairman, any of the Madison County Democratic party headquarters or by contacting a Democratic precinct committee.

New laws define rights of victims

Governor James R. Thompson has signed a series of bills that establishes rights for the victims of crimes and witnesses to those crimes.

"For some time now, there has been much concern over the so-called 'rights' of those who commit crimes," the governor said. "This legislation focuses on the rights of those who have been offended, it focuses on victims, who many times are forgotten in our law enforcement and judicial process."

The governor said that the victims rights legislation centered around Senate Bill 1793, sponsored by Senators Prescott E. Bloston, Percival E. Bloston, George E. Sangmeister, Mokena, and Rep. John J. Culleton of Chicago.

The Bloom measure defines a "victim" as a person injured as a result of a felony against that person, or the spouse, parent, child, brother or sister of a person killed during the commission of a felony.

It requires the Prisoner Review Board to notify the crime victim of a parole hearing, and consider any material submitted by the victim at such hearing. In addition, it requires the board to maintain more complete records of decisions in which parole has been granted. And it gives a victim the right to present a victim impact statement at the sentencing hearing, in conjunction with the state's attorney, to put in the court record evidence of aggravation or mitigation.

The legislation calls for a majority vote of the 16-member Prisoner Review Board to determine the time and conditions of parole for all prisoners sentenced for murder or with a minimum sentence of 20 years or more under the law prior to February 1, 1978, a procedure which has been followed at the governor's request since early this year.

In addition, the governor also signed into law Senate Bill 1841, sponsored by Sen. Timothy F. Degnan and Rep. James Keane, both of Chicago, and Senate Bill 1725, sponsored by Sen. William Marovitz of Chicago and Rep. Thomas J. Homer of Canton.

Senate Bill 1752 provides a list of rights and responsibilities of victims and witnesses of violent crime, along with a demonstration program by the Department of Aging for the study of elderly abuse.

Among the victim's "responsibilities" listed in the bill are to testify at the trial and to notify law enforcement authorities of any change of address.

It was urged that all "victims" who desire to be included in the provisions of the law should immediately notify the Prisoner Review Board and local state's attorney with their correct name and address.

The governor said the three bills provide an "excellent foundation for establishing the rights of victims and witnesses, but there are diversities in these measures which need legislative action to mold them together." He said he will work with the sponsors of the bills to better codify them this fall.

Funding is obtained for Air Force headquarters

The Senate Appropriations Committee has approved an amendment introduced by Senators Charles H. Percy and Alan J. Dixon to provide funds for a new $19.4 million headquarters for the Air Force Communications Command at Scott Air Force Base, Belleville.

The Percy-Dixon amendment was added to the 1985 military construction appropriations bill, which is part of the continuing resolution.

"The current headquarters building is totally unsatisfactory," Percy said. "I am delighted that the committee agrees and has now given final approval to a new facility."

Percy and Dixon had noted that overcrowding had become so severe that personnel were having to work in attics, basements and temporary trailers. "The present working conditions are substandard," Dixon said. "This new building is absolutely necessary to keep productivity high."

Candidates for coroner

MRS. DALLAS BURKE

DR. EDWARD BRAUD

Mrs. Burke, seeking her fourth term, is opposed by Dr. Braud

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Ballot opponents No. 6 for Madison County coroner are the incumbent seeking re-election, Mrs. Dallas M. Burke of Alton, and a physician, Dr. Edward L. Braud of Godfrey.

Mrs. Burke, 57, a registered nurse, is campaigning for her fourth four-year term as county coroner. She was first elected to the office in 1972 after the death of her husband, Coroner Thomas G. Burke, that year and has held the office continuously since winning re-election again in the March 1984 Democratic primary.

FIRST WOMAN to be elected as a coroner in Illinois, she is a graduate of the St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing and has attended medical death investigation instruction. Eight of her deputies also have attended the latter course.

An active member of the Illinois Coroners' Association, Mrs. Burke has been district director of a 20-county ICA district for several years.

"She knows the job," her campaign literature emphasizes. It adds, "She is dedicated and hard working. She is available at all times and does not hesitate to go on calls at all hours of the night or day. She has served with compassion to families, and pledges continuity of service."

A LONGTIME funeral home owner-operator, she has been a resident of Alton for more than 40 years. Before becoming coroner, she was a deputy coroner for 15 years and worked as a nurse at the former Western Military Academy and at St. Joseph's Hospital, Alton. She was born in Germantown, Wis.

Mrs. Burke is the mother of five children.

She has said that electing a medical doctor to the office would not be an economy, since the law requires that a separate pathologist be utilized. Several hundred deaths are investigated each year.

ACTIVE IN PROGRAMS to fight drug abuse, she also cooperated in a national study of infant SDS, the sudden death syndrome.

She selects funeral directors and employees throughout the county for appointment to deputy coroner positions. She became affiliated with funeral business 36 years ago.

Dr. Braud, a principal member of the medical staff at the Alton hospital, is located in Alton. He was proposed for coroner in spring 1984 Republican balloting.

AN INTERNIST and medical pathologist, he has been endorsed by the elective office by the Madison County Medical Society.

Dr. Sadiq Mohyuddin, Alton president, commented, "Dr. Braud is highly qualified for the job. It would be an asset to have a physician as the coroner."

Experienced in managing other physicians, Dr. Braud has had extensive research training.

The doctor is trained and board-certified in both internal medicine and medical oncology and has had personal experience with many of the tools used by forensic pathologists.

CAMPAIGN MATERIAL for Dr. Braud describes him as "a physician who understands the problems in a coroner's office. He understands environmental aspects of the working place."

"In 1984, does Madison County want to move forward into the 21st century? We can make a start on election day."

His opponent disagrees, saying the conduct of the coroner office under her direction is entirely up-to-date.

The general election is set for 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 6.

Wilson is contractor for new CT scanner building

Oliver C. Anderson Hospital in Maryville has received unanimous approval from the Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board to acquire and install a whole-body CT scanner. Work will begin immediately and should be completed in early 1985, according to Daniel A. Hicks, administrator at Anderson Hospital. S. M. Wilson & Co. of Granite City is general contractor for the building addition which will house the scanner.

"This important addition to our hospital's services will enable us to provide central Madison County residents and their physicians with advanced diagnostic capabilities," Hicks said. "The on-site installation of a CT scanner at Anderson not only will mean 24-hour-a-day availability, it also will mean reducing the necessity for transferring medical and trauma cases—especially those involving injuries to the head."

In addition to purchasing a General Electric Model 8800 whole-body CT scanner system, the hospital will undertake the construction of a 2,500-square-foot addition to house the new computerized diagnostic equipment. The addition will join the hospital building on the west side, providing access through the existing radiology department. Cost of the entire project is estimated at $865,000.

FILE CONDUCT CHARGE AFTER ALLEGED FIGHT

Larry E. McKenzie, 35, of 3801 Lake Drive, Lot 236, Pontoon Beach, was charged with disorderly conduct last week, when police were called to a dwelling in the 2400 block of Adams Street and found McKenzie and another man allegedly fighting in the front yard.

After the melee was broken up, McKenzie began screaming obscenities at the other man and was arrested. It was alleged. He was released upon posting a $52 cash bond.

TWO APARTMENTS LOOTED

A burglar took an $800 color television set and a $150 TV set this month from the apartment of Dorothy Kayich, 3809a Village Lane. At the nearby apartment of Rockford Abbott, 3804 Village, a missing are a $500 stereo with speakers, $300 TV, $280 microwave oven, two $100 sport coats, a $100 electric typewriter, a jewelry box and a clock. At both places, the intruder broke door facings to gain entry.

Regional growth sought, forecast

"The State of St. Louis" Promotional Committee has received endorsement from a partnership of Southern Illinois economic development groups.

Those at the presentation outlined ways they are striving to increase business activity and job opportunities throughout this region. They forecast success for these goals during the 1980s.

Led by the Leadership Council Southwestern Illinois' contribution of $8,000, nine economic groups donated $11,700 to the new promotional organization's national advertising and public relations campaign to help attract jobs into the bi-state region.

The ceremony took place at the new Collinsville Hilton Inn, itself a breakthrough in hotel development in Southwestern Illinois.

Nearby, another indication of economic development progress was cited—construction for the Interstate 255 and I-55-70 interchange, approximately one-half mile west of the Collinsville exit on I-55-70.

Scheduled for completion in the fall of 1986, the interchange will complete the circumferential route for the entire bi-state St. Louis area.

"The interchange is opening up the road to progress, and the 'State of St. Louis' campaign is opening new roads to progress as well," said John R. Basilico, fund-raising chairman for the promotional committee, in accepting the business leaders' contribution.

The promotional committee was National Guard honors senator

An award singling out State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene for his distinguished contributions to the National Guard Study Commission has been presented to the senator by the Illinois National Guard Study Commission.

The presentation, in the form of a plaque, was made in Vadalabene's office in the State Capitol.

"The leadership of the association unanimously voted a resolution to present 'Senator Sam' with an emblem of his achievement, along with the other members of the National Guard Study Commission," Colonel Aldo Zordan, the executive vice president of the organization, said.

"Senator Vadalabene, in particular, has been a special friend of the National Guard, one who recognizes the full spectrum of services performed by our membership," he noted.

Vadalabene said he has been especially interested in securing a new armory for the Madison County area. Current planning is focusing on a site adjacent to Bethalto Civic Memorial Airport in East Alton.

"The public should recognize that our Guard is not simply concerned with military preparedness," Vadalabene said. "The studies of our commission have brought to light many emergency services performed by these fine volunteers. 'When we suffer floods, heavy snows or other catastrophes, the Guard is always there with a vital function to perform. The Guard works with civic organizations and many vital volunteer efforts. We should all be very proud of them as I am proud of this award,' he concluded.

FOUR NABBED AT SCENE OF THEFT OF GASOLINE

James L. Hilmer, 18, of 2322 Grand Ave. was fined $100 and costs recently by Circuit Judge George Moran Jr. after police alleged gasoline was taken at Stamps Sewer and Pipe Cleaning, Inc., 1501 Grand Ave. while it was closed the previous night. Arrested with him were Leonard Harper, 17, Glen Carbon, Kenneth Click, 18, of 1101 rear Reynolds St., Madison, and Jeffrey Willoughby, 18, of 2106 Nameoki Road.

Harper also was booked on a speeding warrant and Willoughby also was booked on a warrant charging property damage. Harper was released on $104 bail. Click was freed upon posting $52 and Willoughby appeared before Judge Moran, being fined $150 and pleading innocent to property damage, for which a $2,500 recognizance bond was set.

A total of $400 in awards will be presented to paraders whose masquerade costumes are judged most outstanding in various categories. A wristwatch worth $100 will be the grand prize, Frederick reported.

Paraders will gather Oct. 31 prior to the 7 p.m. starting time outside the City Hall at Niedringhaus and Edison avenues, where identification numbers will be distributed.

The Rolling Nobles of Almad Shrine Temple will lead the parade through the main downtown streets under the supervision of Granite City Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer.

ALLEGED DRIVERS TRIES TO ELUDE OFFICERS

Darrell Schrader, 28, of 2422 Logan Ave., was charged with fleeing and attempting to elude police, reckless driving, disregarding a stop sign and driving while his license was expired last week after a chase through the West Granite area.

An officer alleged seeing a pickup truck go through a stop sign at West 22nd Street and Illinois Avenue and attempted to halt the vehicle, using the red lights and siren.

After following the truck north through an alley, the officer said Schrader turned west onto W. 24th Street and lost control, striking a chain link fence at the home of Roy Whitaker, 2316 Logan St. The driver was not injured, reports said.

Gateway to note BPW Week

Gateway Business and Professional Women will join President Barbara Hodges at worship services Sunday morning at 10:30 at Concordia Lutheran Church, 2305 Grand Ave., as the initial event launching National Business and Professional Women's Week.

Brunch will be served at Charlie's Restaurant following church services, Ollie Derr, chairman of the week-long celebration, announced.

The BPW festivities start Sunday and continue through Saturday, Oct. 27.

Official documents proclaiming the week have been issued by Illinois Governor James R. Thompson and the mayors of Quad-City area communities "to call attention to the more than 45,000,000 women who constitute a significant portion of the nation's work force."

According to the proclamations, "The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, founded in 1919, the oldest and largest organization of working women, is constantly in the forefront of major economic, social and political issues affecting its constituency."

Members of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women are committed to involve Garden club plans Shaw's Garden trip

The October meeting of the Thorngate Garden Club was conducted at the home of Helen Polley, who served a luncheon.

The meeting was called to order by President Jean Bethel. Betty King gave a reading, "Grandma Tells It Like It Was," by C.D. Barber, and Jane White recited "My Get-Up has Gone" and Joyce Kilmer's "Life is a Highway."

Projects were discussed, and the members decided to contribute $25 to the canned goods collection to be given to Protestant Welfare's Project Help.

The November meeting will be a tour of Shaw's Garden and the Jewel Box. The hostess will be Lillian Delps.

June Lux won the surprise, traveling basket and received a handmade bow box from Wanda Herman. A report was given by Betty King on plans for the Christmas party to be at Charlie's Restaurant.

Members present at the October meeting were Betty King, Clara Schlinger, Jane White, Lillian Delps, Enid Bolin, Jean Bethel, Jane Lab and Helen Polley.

ment in their communities and participation in civic, social, educational, cultural and political programs, as well as maintaining their professional positions.

"At this time, they are promoting activities relevant to their current areas of concern, including equal treatment under the law and support of the Domestic Violence Act, quality day care and crime victim aid," the document notes.

Gateway BPW members will attend the city council meeting in the Granite City Township Center, 2060 Delmar Ave., at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 23, Mrs. Derr announced. A progressive dinner for members and their guests is scheduled Friday, Oct. 26, with three hostesses entertaining the group at their residences.

Those planning to take part in the social event will gather first at the home of Pearl Kennerly for the salad course at 6:30 p.m. The entire course will be served at the residence of Pat Anderson and desserts will be enjoyed at the home of Mrs. Derr.

At the home, Betty Miles, a psychic reader, will give special readings. Members wishing to participate in this segment of the program are invited to contact Mrs. Derr at 877-8251 for an appointment time.

Cost of the progressive dinner is $3 per person and reservations will be accepted by calling Mrs. Derr.

K of C drive Oct. 26 and 27 to aid mentally handicapped

One of the reasons the public is generally unaware of the Illinois Knights of Columbus Drive to Aid the Mentally Retarded is the assurance that the money collected is returned almost on lot to the neighborhood in which it was contributed. That's the contention of Gus Sundermeier Sr., charitable activities director supervising the two-day fund-raising drive that will be held this year on the weekend of Oct. 26 and 27.

Community organizations serving the mentally handicapped, such as sheltered workshops, schools and non-profit organizations working with the "special children" are beneficiaries of the program.

Since the Knights began their annual drives to help the mentally disabled in 1970, in excess of $9.7 million has been collected, most of it during a two-day candy-selling campaign each fall.

The percent of the gross receipts is set aside in a state fund for major projects being undertaken by organizations working with the mentally handicapped on a regional or statewide basis. After deducting minimal costs for purchase of the candy product used in the drive and publicizing the event — less than 13 percent of the gross — the balance collected is distributed to the local institutions, schools, workshops and organizations serving the mentally handicapped.

In addition to the hundreds of Knights associated with the 77,000 state Knights of Columbus membership, volunteers throughout Illinois, pitch in to collect from the public in shopping centers, at intersections, transportation depots and community business sections.

The co-chairmen of the Knights' MR drive, Ron Ziemba of Mt. Prospect and Jack Collinsworth of Mattison, scrutinize the organizations volunteering their services before permitting them to participate in the two-day campaign.

Bob Newhart, popular television star, will be featured in TV and radio commercials on behalf of the drive.

Joey Donaldson is hospitalized

Joey Donaldson, a senior at Granite City High School, is a patient at St. Louis Children's Hospital, where he is expected to remain about six weeks.

Joey, who suffers from cystic fibrosis, entered the hospital Oct. 9. He was previously hospitalized for one month in February, but started the fall term at high school.

The son of Mrs. Cindy Marshall, 3224 Aubrey Ave., Joey will celebrate his 18th birthday on Nov. 2. He would like to hear from his friends, who may write him at:

St. Louis Children's Hospital, 9th Floor West, Room 54, 400 S. Kingshighway, St. Louis, Mo. 63178.

Joey is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James P. (Alice) Worthen of Springfield, formerly of Granite City, and a great-grandson of Mrs. Alice Nonn of Granite City.

NEW POST. Dr. Donald F. Cairns, a former vice president of Granite City Steel, has been elected chairman of the board of directors of National Engineers and Associates, Inc., Clayton, Mo. Dr. Cairns, formerly was president of National Inter-Tech, Inc., a subsidiary of National Intergraph, Inc. He pioneered the development and design for one of the world's most efficient and cost-effective waste water treatment facilities for integrated steel mills and is a co-inventor of a mobile system for control of coke pushing emissions and of other improvements in the iron and steel industries. He is a registered professional engineer in both Illinois and Missouri.

Treasurer Arlene Haldeman reported a balance of $590 in the club fund. Vice-President Lora Mae Lombardi reported on the executive board meeting and a report on the city council meeting was made by Delores Dortch and Mrs. Tsigolaroff.

A motion was approved to send a card and a yellow rose to Advisor Lucille Voyes, who is ill.
